BRITISH READY TO FIGHT TURKS

OUTLOOK GLOOMY

The British Government Announces It Is Prepared to Make Exertions to Maintain Effective and Permanent Freelom of Dardanelles.

ASKS HELP TO HOLD THE NEUTRAL ZONE

Plea For Aid Suggests That Blood Will Be Spilled If Necessary to Preserve That For Which Sacrifices Have Already Been Made.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—1:30 p. m.—Large British forces with heavy artillery have been landed at strategical points in the Dardanelles prepared for any eventuality.

Straits Must Be Free.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The British government has adopted the attitude that the effective and permanent freedom of the Dardanelles is a vital necessity, for the sake of which it is prepared to make exentions, it was authoritatively stated this afternoon.

Plea for Assistance.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The British government, addressing Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Greece, is asking their participation in an effective defense of the neutral zone, it was learned officially today. Great Britain also has invited her dominions to be represented by contingents in the defense of those interests, for which they have already mare enormous sacrifices, it was also authoritatively stated.

Turkish forces in the north have continued their advance and almost simultaneously with the news of their capture of Panderma, on the Sea of Marmora comes the announcement that the British fleet in the Dardanelles has been ordered to prevent any attempt to cross the straits.

Jugo Slavia and Rumania also are watching any move toward Thrace, as they are opposed to the Turks again securing the foothold in Europe.

The Turks are not without support in their European ambitions. The Russo-Angera treaty is understood to bind the Russians to cooperate with Mustapha Kemal in the capture of the Dardanelles, in return for the freedom of the Black Sea and the Moscow government is reported to have prepared for action all its forces in the Caucasian republics, and to be holding its Black sea fleet in readiness. Russians born in 1901 hitherto exempt from service have been called to the colors.

Exchange Views.

BELGRADE, Sept. 16.—Rumania and Jugo-Slavia have completed an exchange of views regarding the attitude they will adopt in the case the Bulgarians advance toward Saloniki, according to the newspaper Politika.

All the Jugo-Slavian cabinet members have been recalled to the capital in view of the gravity of the situation, and the government has decided to participate in the conference of powers to settle the Near Eastern question.

French to Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—British headquarters announced that field Marshal Viscount French, Earl of Ypres, is expected to arrive here shortly.

Reports were current yesterday that the allied warships were bombarding Smyrna but investigation proved that

Rare Gems Trophy for Which Women Fight in "Peacock Alley"

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Guests and employes of the Congress hotel still were talking today of the fight in "Peacock Alley" the hotel's famous promenade, between Miss Edna DeWerth, beautiful fashion model, and Mrs. Melville Reeves, wife of the man jocularly known as "Chicago's skyscraper burglar."

The stakes in the fight were $10,000 worth of jewels which Miss DeWerth wore, and Mrs. Reeves won. The jewels which adorned the mannequin before the fight were the gifts of Reeves, his wife said, and belonged to her.

Previous efforts to obtain the jewels had failed, Mrs. Reeves said. Through her attorney she obtained a replevin writ, and accompanied by a baliff, went to the hotel.

Encountering the beautiful Miss DeWerth as she came down "Peacock Alley," wearing the latest style creations, Mrs. Reeves asked for the jewel and pointed to the baliff. Expressing the disbelief that the man was an officer, Miss DeWerth attempted to pass.

Mrs. Reeves went into action. A diamond and sapphire lavallier was her first trophy, followed by a ring, bracelet and wrist watch. When hotel attendants separated the compatants, Miss DeWerth stood stripped of the Reeves ornaments, and in no condition to pose immediately as a fashion model.

"I begged that girl at least a dozen times to give him up and return my property," said Mrs. Reeves. "She refused and laughed at me—and I,—well, what could a self-respecting wife do?"

Cool Weather Early in Week

BANKERS TO PRISON

Floyd R. Ward, of Benedict and L. R. Cooper, of Waco, Sentenced to Long Terms for Illegal Banking Methods.

YORK, Sept. 16.—Floyd R. Ward, vice president of the Farmers State bank of Benedict and L. R. Cooper, cashier of the Waco State bank, were sentenced shortly after noon today by Judge Corcoran. Ward was given seven years in the state prison and Cooper six years. They entered pleas of guilty to forgery and illegal banking methods.

State Trade and Commerce Secretary Hart and Assistant Attorney General Reed left Lincoln for York and Waco on Friday evening. They had not returned up to noon Saturday, but were expected back during the day. Hart's office gave out no information as to whether or not the Waco State bank would be closed on account of the cashier's acts.

Duck Hunters Out Early But Find Game Scarce

Several hundred Lincoln nimrods saw the sun rise, Saturday morning from Salt lake where they had gone to bag their first ducks, with the opening Saturday morning, of the fall hunting season. The ducks however, according to several hunters, were largely distinguished by their absence. Buck Taylor, one of the most ardent hunting fans in Lincoln, repaired to Salt lake early Saturday morning, but returned about 9 o'clock with the information that he had not even got a shot at a duck. With the first arrival of cold weather, it is believed that duck hunting will be good along the different lakes and creeks in the vicinity of Lincoln.

Swatow Typhoon Worst In History of China Coast

Conservative Estimate Places Death List at 60,000 and Property Damage at Many Millions—No Foreigner Was Seriously Injured.

(Associated Press.)

SWATOW, China, Sept. 16.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.—The typhoon which struck Swatow and the surrounding region on Aug. 3 resulting in the loss of more than 60,000 lives without doubt is the worst of its kind on record in China. The oldest people in the community compare it only with the typhoon of 1869, but insist that the devastation wrought in the recent disaster is a great many times greater than that fifty-three years ago.

The most venerable seamen describe it as the worst typhoon in the hitsory of trade along the China coast.

The exact amount of damage probably never will be known, but estimates run to many millions of dollars.

Death Toll High.

The death toll is far in excess of first estimates. The most accurate figures available show that between three and four thousand bodies have been buried in Swatow alone. This does not account for the possible hundreds swept out to sea. Out among the hundreds of villages some small and some large, covering an area of about seventy-five square miles, the death toll is much greater in proportion to population. Many villages are totally wiped out. According to the most conservative estimates, the total number of dead is 60,000. Other estimates place the figure as high at 100,000.

One of the most miraclulous features of the death toll is that no foreigner is seriously hurt.

Facts and figures concerning the nature and intensity of the typhoon are interesting. The width of the center or pocket of the lowest pressure was fourteen miles. This passed directly over Swatow. The typhoon was traveling at the rate of about 15 miles an hour but the wind around the whirl moved at a rate of more than a hundred miles an hour, or a balfort force of 12, which is the highest wind force recorded in the balfort scale on instruments used by local lighthouse. Stones the size of a man's fist were blown into the lighthouses, destroying heavy lenses and prisms standing 230 feet above the ground.

Gives Official Figures.

Official records give the flood water level as nine feet above the high tide water mark. All this took place at the time when it should have been low tide. However, this nine feet is only the average mean, the top crest of the waves reaching in places fifteen and twenty feet in the city.

A greater part of the damage done was caused by this so-called tidal wave which in reality was not a tidal wave. Instead it should have be called a "typhoon wave" as this high water merely lifted within a partial vacuum or typhoon pocket of low pressure when this typhoon pocket reached the shore the water was carried for miles inland, carrying havoc and devastation with it.

On account of this devastation many are suffering for food.

However, relief work has speedily begun on a well organized basis and it is thought the situation soon will be well in hand.

DETERIORATION OF CORN UNCHECKED

Burlington's Report for Sept. 1 to 15, Shows Further Decline in Crop.

Only 74 Per Cent Yield Predicted—Bumper Potato Harvest.

The condition of the corn crop of Nebraska continued to decline from September 1 to September 15, according to the Burlington's semi-monthly crop report issued Saturday and the combined estimates from various stations show that the average yield is estimated at 74 per cent of a normal crop. This is six points higher than the government estimate which the Burlington report indicates may prove to be unduly pessimistic.

In the Omaha division, along the Missouri river and north of the Platte river, the reports show that the corn crop is really in excellent condition and the yield will be surprisingly good. The entire Omaha division estimate fell from 104 on September 1 to 94 on September 15 but even this indicates that a splendid crop is in prospect there.

Corn in the Lincoln division improved six points during the two weeks covered, advancing from 56 to 62. The Wymore division reported a drop from 65 to 61 while in the McCook the estimate fell from 8 6to 72

These estimates would indicate that Nebraska will have 179,095,000 bushels of corn this winter compared with 207,732,000 last year. The average for five years is slightly below last year's yield.

Threshing of small grain is proceeding and the demand for cars has exceeded the supply during the first half of September. Fruit continues to be reported favorably and the sugar beet crop is good and hundreds of workers will soon be employed there harvesting the crop.

Huge Potato Crop.

The potato situation is explained at some length in the report. The average in Nebraska increased from 56,183 last year to 85,176 this year and while the yield this year is not as good as last, the extxra acreage will give Nebraska 7,224,281 bushels of this commodity in place of 5,630,359 bushels dug one year ago. The Burlington estimates that Nebraska may ship as many as 7,600 cars of potatoes this season if market for them can be found.

The condition of pastures and meadows is very poor, owing to the extreme heat early in September and the lack of moisture. The temperature for the two weeks varied from 42 to 106 degrees.

Rainfall over the state for the period named was reported as follows:

Fremont, .30; Wahoo, .30; Oakland, .50; Plattsmouth, .95; Havelock, .25; Schuyler, 2.25; Ashland, 1.00; Stromsburg, .25; Seward, .74; Ericson, .50; Fairmont, 1.70; Crete, .85; Hastings, .56; Aurora, .50; David City, 1.45; Falls City, 2.60.

HARDING TO VETO SOLDIERS' BONUS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—President Harding has definitely decided to veto the soldiers bonus bill and will send his message to the house Tuesday, according to some of his close advisers who have talked with him recently.

Some of the president's friends were understood to be making an informal canvass in the senate in the hope of counting enough votes to prevent the overriding of the veto there. The result now was regarded as doubtful, with some friends and foes alike declaring there could not be a definite estimate in advance of the actual roll call.

The number of senators absent when the vote comes may decide the issue although it was said that every effort would be made to obtain pairs for all absentees including those senators in Europe who were not paired in the vote August 31, when the senate passed the bill, 47 to 22.

House managers of the bonus were understood to be prepared to move promptly after receipt of a veto message to repass the bill and were confident that more than the required two thirds majority could be obtained.

Gillette Signs Bill.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The soldiers bonus bill was signed by Speaker Gillett at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon

WILL CAREFULLY SELECT GUARDS

Ex-Service Organizations to Recommend Men for Night Watchmen.

Patrol Service in Residence Districts of City to Start Nov. 1.

The ex-service men's organizataions of Lincoln, at the suggestion of Chief of Police Peter Johnstone, have endorsed the idea of having special veteran police officers in the residence districts during the winter months and are working out a plan to co-operate with the department in selecting the men to be deputized. The special guard service will be started Nov. 1.

Thursday evening a preliminary meeting was held at the office of H. L. Carpenter. Those present, in addition to Mr. Carpenter, were Frank B. O'Connell, B. G. Westover, Lester L. Dunn, O. E. Sincebaugh and Roscoe Pershall, representing the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. A permanent committee will be named from the two organizations in the near future.

Under the plan outlined, applicants for the position of special night watchmen, must filed a formal applications for the position of special night watchmen, must filed a formal application, answer a prepared questionnaire, furnish two or more recommendations from Lincoln business men, and a certified copy of their discharges. If recommended by the committee for appointment, they will secure blanks for signatures from Mr. Carpenter, who will assign to each a district. The same charge of $2 per house, paid through agreement with the guards, will be paid this winter.

The committee emphasize the fact that the character and previous record of all applicants will be thoroughly looked into. Preference will be given to married men, and to ex-service men suffering from disability which precludes their doing ordinary labor, but will not interfere with their duties as watchmen. Applications will be available at the office of Mr. O'Connell, 314 Richards block, after Sept. 25.—The committee states that no signatures will be secured or appointments made before that time.

KELLEY RESIGNS FROM CITY Y. M.

Fred O. Kelley, industrial secretary of the Lincoln Young Men's Christian association, left Friday evening on a flying trip to Denver, preparatory to moving there Oct. 1. Mr. Kelley has resigned his position here and accepted a similar position with the Denver Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Kelley will complete three year's work in Lincoln this month, having come here after serving in the army, where he was senior chaplain of the American regiment in Italy during the war. Foreman in an English shipyards early in life, he came to America to enter the ministry. He graduated from Northwestern university and was assigned as a Methodist pastor, in the mining regions of Montana.

In 1919 Rev. Kelley came to Lincoln under the joint auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and Chamber of Commerce and instituted his industrial work, a new phase in association activities. His program soon attracted national attention, and demonstrated the possibilities of a program organized to bring about a better spirit of co-operation between employers and employes.

The organization built up by Mr. Kelley has permeated through a large portion of Lincoln's industries. Through it he has taken to the laboring men miniature libraries, formed welfare committees, put over an educational program of leadership and through popular lectures and exhibits, developed recreation and thrift. Mr. Kelley has also had a large responsibility in other branches of local Y. M. C. A. work.

The industrial work started here will be continued under the leadership of C. C. Stanton, who has been Mr. Kelley's assistant for the past two years, having previously been connected with the Lincoln Telephone company. The recreation and playground program will be especially developed during the next year.

Man and Wife Go 50-50 Serving a Term In Bastile

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Children and chickens in need of care, caused Judge William H. Sawtelle of the United States district court at Tucson, Ariz. sitting here temporarily to make a fifty-fifty division between Leonard and Jennie Gregory, husband and wife of the sentence imposed following their plea of guilty to violation of the Volstead act. They will take turns in going to jail.

The couple admitted guilt in both possessing and selling liquor and then told of their children and chickens, several of the former and many of the latter.

"Both require care," commented Judge Sawtelle. "And neither will get it if I send you both to jail at once."

Strawhat Riots Give Whitewings Additional Work

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Street cleaners were busy today as the result of straw hat riots which extended from the Battery to the Bronx last night.

The appearance of a straw hat any place in the city was the signal for hoodlums to begin work. Many rowdies used sticks with nails in them to destroy hats.

The police were kept busy. But there were too many hats. It had been a warm day. Dozens of arrests were made. The headpieces of three plainclothes men were destroyed. One police sergeant was tripped and fell into a gutter when chasing boys who had battered his hat. Hoodlums boarded street cars and took hats from passengers One victim said a mob of 1,00 was destroying hats on the upper West Side.

MANY DRAW FINES AND JAIL TERMS

Judge Munger Sentences Thirteen Saturday—26 Are Arraigned.

Liquor Violations Form Majority of Cases—Henry Gilbert Fined $200.

Twelve men and one woman, colored, were sentenced by Federal Judge T. C. Munger, Saturday, for alleged violations of the national prohibition act. Twenty-three cases involving twenty-six people were brought before the court for arraignment.

Henry Gilbert, colored, of Lincoln, was fined $200 after pleading guilty to four counts of having in his possession and transporting intoxicating liquor on two different occasions. Gilbert made an emotional plea before Judge Munger, breaking into tears and sobbing when he explained that he had gone into the liquor business in order to earn enough money so that he could send his sick wife to Arizona. Five gallons of liquor were shipped to Gilbert in a trunk on May 23 and on June 22 officers caught him after he had jumped from a train from Omaha. On this occasion he was carrying a suit case and a grip full of liquor.

David Stewart of Waco, who was defended by Arthur Wray, of York, drew a fine of $200 after pleading guilty to a charge of possessing and transporting intoxicating liquor. Stewart was fined in the state court at York a few months ago and his car was confiscated and sold. Conrad Zieg, York, also defended by Judge Wray, was fined $100 for possessing and manufacturing liquor and was sentenced to 30 days in jail for having in his possesion property designed to manufacture liquor. Zieg pleaded guilty to all three charges.

Many $100 Fines.

A fine of $100 and costs was imposed upon each of the following who pleaded guilty: Lena Carriger

PROCLAIMS FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Mayor Zehrung Sets Aside Period From October 2 to 9 for Observance.

States in Proclamation 90 Per Cent of Fire Due to Public Carelessness.

Mayor Zehrung has made public a proclamation calling upon the people to join in the general observance of a fire prevention week which is to be observed throughout the nation on October 2 to 9. The proclamation reads:

"Fire in the United States last year, took a toll of 15,000 lives, mostly those of women and children: it was responsible for the maiming of more than 17,000, and laid waste improved property valued at approximately $485,000,000—a sum exceeded but once in the 156 years of this republic, and that was in the abnormal year of the San Francisco conflagration.

"To this staggering waste of life, health and wealth, in 1921, the city of Lincoln, contributed its share. What makes the condition in nation, state and city the more regrettable is the indisputable fact that fully 90 per cent of all fires may be ascribed definitely to public carelessness and ignorance, and are, therefore, for the most part unnecessary and clearly preventable.

"Surely these truths must make it evident to every thinking resident of Lincoln, that there is desperate need for watchfulness and an aroused sense of responsibility in regard to fire. Therefore, I hereby designate and set aside the period of October 2 to 9, 1922 as Fire Prevention week, and urge upon all city departments and the people at large to join in making the observance of the week city-wide and in keeping with the character of the fire prevention ceremonies that will be held at the same time throughout the entire United States.

"F. C. ZEHRUNG, Mayor."

FORD BEGINS TO CLOSE FACTORIES

Action Taken As Result of What He Terms Coal Profiteering.

Complete Suspension Comes With End of Last Shift Tonight.

(Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Sept. 16.—As a protest against paying what he believes to be exorbitant prices for coal and steel, Henry Ford today began the process of closing up his huge industry.

With the suspension complete when the last shift of workers leaves the various factories tonight, approximately 100,000 men will have been rendered idle for an indefinite period. The plants affected include the five factories in the Detroit areas and the numerous assembling stations throughout the country. Other concerns, the output of which goes chiefly to the Ford company, also are expected to suspend operations.

In announcing the contemplated closing several weeks ago, Mr. Ford declared no coal shortage existed, and that the public was being "gouged" by the dealers. He also criticised government agencies for the method of apportioning coal.

The first lay-off of men occurred last mid-night at the River Rouge blast furnaces where about 18,000 are employed. Two thousand men are to be retained at this plant, however, to attend to the coke ovens which cannot be allowed to cool.

At the Hyland Park, the day and early night forces were to be checked out in a similar manner. Approximately 40,000 men are employed at this plant.

The remainder of the workers affected are employes of the Dearborn tractor factory, the Lincoln plant, a factory at Northville, and those in cities outside of Michigan.

Most of the factories likely to be affected by the closing of the Ford industries, through the loss of their chief market, are located in Detroit, or nearby Michigan cities.

Rescue Workers Tear Away Slate And Quartz Wall

JACKSON, Calif., Sept. 16.—It is now predicted that about 10:30 a. m., Sunday will see the first hole made in the 4,200 foot level of the burning Argonaut mine by the crew working from the 3,600 foot level of the adjoining Kennedy mine.

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 16.—With the expectation that the fate of forty-seven miners walled in for nineteen days, would be revealed within twenty-four hours, suspense took a new grip on this mining town today as rescue crews with drills were boring through the final barrier of quartz and slate almost a mile down in the Argonaut gold workings.

Buoyed by the knowledge that the end of their feverish, ceaseless labor was near at hand, rescue crews fell to work with a vigor that promised to bear out a predicton that the imprisoned men would be reached late tomorrow or Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Repp will be entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hofferber, 746 Washington this noon, and a banquet will be given in their honor at the Lincoln hotel this evening.

Sunday noon they will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Amen, 601 D street, and Sunday afternoon at 1:30 a mass meeting will be held at the city auditorium at which Mr. Repp will speak about his experience in the famine area of Russia.

TO HEAR MATHEWS

Application to Be Released From Penitentiary On Bail Comes Up In Supreme Court at Its First Fall Sitting Monday.

Willard V. Mathews' application to be released from the state penitentiary on bail will come before the state supreme court at its first fall sitting on Monday forenoon. The attorney general's office has a motion pending to recall a writ of error recently issued by the clerk's office, on which attorneys for Mathews sought unsuccessfully to obtain an order by the district court of Douglas county setting him at liberty, before the supreme court's September term opened. This motion may also be heard Monday, although it has not been formally set down.

In a brief of 73 pages filed with the high bench, Mathews' counsel contends that the old law of 1913 governing embezzlement of bank funds was repealed by implication when the legislature of 1921 passed a new act on that subject, and as Mathews' alleged offenses were committed under the old statute this, in effect, wipes the slate clean so far as he is concerned.

Mathews pleaded guilty last February to embezzling funds of the Pioneer State bank at Omaha, while acting as its president. He was sentenced in March to serve one to ten years in the penitentiary. He claimed that he was not guilty, in fact, and that he made the plea in order to protect the interests of the bank's stockholders and creditors. His present plea is that he wishes to get out so he can reorganize the Guaranty Securities company, and pay off its indebtedness.

Attorney General Davis declares that any attempt to reorganize the company would be another fraud upon the public. He and his special assistant, W. C. Dorsey, who prosecuted the case, are strongly opposed to setting Mathews free by admitting him to bail, or otherwise.

BOYS HELD TO DISTRICT COURT

Four Lincoln Youths Plead Guilty to Auto Theft Charge.

Arrested at Red Cloud After Alleged Stolen Car Found Wrecked.

Thomas Koontz, 17, 1527 L street, Orville Vincent, 16, 830 North Fourteenth street, Chester O'Neil, 18, University Place and Clarence O'Neal 17, 915 North Fifteenth street, who were arrested at Red Cloud, Neb., Thursday, in the possession of an automobile alleged to have been stolen from W. F. Baus, 1940 South Fifteenth street, entered pleas of guilty Saturday morning in Justice Stevens court to a complaint charging them with auto theft and were bound over to the district court for trial under bond of $500 each. In default of the bonds, they were ordered committed to the county jail.

The four boys were brought back to Lincoln Friday afternoon by Detective Longstreth and Deputy State Sheriff O. D. Hedge, who went to Red Cloud after them. Sheriff Frank Huffor, of Red Cloud, apprehended the boys Thursday, after the stolen Baus car was found wrecked near Red Cloud and identified as the car stolen in Lincoln. According to the officers, the four boys had started to hike back toward Lincoln when arrested. The boys admitted their guilt when questioned Friday at State Sheriff Hyer's office, according to Acting Chief of Police Walter Anderson.

The Bause car was stolen Wednesday night from in front of the Y. M. C. A.

According to Acting Chief Anderson, the boys confessed to him that they also broke into the Arenson grocery, 825 North Sixteenth street, last Tuesday.

DRY NAVY ACTIVE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The dry navy today captured two alleged rum running schooners with cargoes about $150,000 and $40,00 in gold aboard near the entrance to New York harbor, as well as an unnamed launch which sank while it was being towed into port. Another schooner and swift power boat escaped.

NAB TWO SUSPECTS

Eric Balderson and Oscar Smith Accused of Robbing Oil Station Safe In Lincoln More Than Two Years Ago.

ARRESTED WHILE IN FEDERAL COURT

Former Alleged to Have Taken Part in Two Robberies Which Netted Approximately $5,000—Say Smith In On Only One Job.

Eric Balderson, 2635 South Twelfth street, and Oscar Smith, 2717 Orchard street, were placed under arrest by Acting Chief of Police Walter Anderson and Officer N. F. Schneible Saturday morning, in the federal court room, on charges of having robbed the safe of the Standard Oil station, Eleventh and J stretes, of approximately $5,000 on August 22, 1920 and September 6, 1920. Both men refused to answer questions.

The specific charge against Balderson is that on August 22, 1920, he stole $2,000 cash from the safe of the oil station at Eleventh and J streets; and that on Sept. 6, 1920 he and Oscar Smith robbed the same safe of approximately $2,500, Acting Chief Anderson declared. Smith is charged with only one robbery—on September 6 1920, when he is alleged to have been with Balderson.

The arrests have come after over two years of diligent effort on the part of the Lincoln police department to solve the two robberies.

Both Balderson and Smith were arraigned in federal court before United States Judge T. C. Munger, after their arrests, on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. They entered pleas of not guilty.

Held Up Employes.

The first robbery of the oil station occurred at 9.30 p. m., Sunday, August 22, 1920, according to Acting Chief Anderson. Claud N. Bowers and Harry Howells, then employes at the oil station were about to close up for the night, when a masked bandit entered from the west. Bowers made a dive for the safe to shut the door, which was ajar, but the bandit covered him with a gun and backed him away. The holdup then forced Bowers and Howells at the point of his gun, into a small room where he locked them in. After robbing the safe of about $2,500 in cash, he ran east into an alley.

The second robbery was staged sometime after closing time on the night of September 6, 1920. It was Monday night, Labor day and the receipts had been unusually heavy that day. The robbery was discovered in the morning. The burglars had forced open a north window and had opened the safe, which was an old one, and escaped with about $2,000 to $2,500 in cash. Police at that time believed that the same parties pulled off both jobs.

Late Train Proves Undoing of Carter, Wanted by Police

The lateness of a Burlington passenger train to Omaha, early Saturday morning, brought about the arrest of Harry Carter, at 2:30 a. m., Saturday, for whom the Lincoln police have held a warrant for nearly five weeks, on a charge of illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

Officer Joe Rymer happened into the Burlington station about 2:30 a. m. and discovered Carter in the waiting room and placed him under arrest. Carter had come from Omaha about an hour before, dashed up P street a couple of blocks to secure some of his clothing, and had returned to the station expecting to catch the next train back to Omaha. The train was to have left twenty minutes after Carter got to Lincoln.

BURLINGTON AND NEW WORKERS IN WAGE AGREEMENT

Carrier Operating in Nebraska Refuses to Settle With Strikers.

New Pay Schedule for Shop Employes Ranges From 63 to 85 Cents an Hour.

Refusing to join with some other roads which have settled their controversy with the striking shop men, the officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad have signed a new wage scale agreement with representatives of the present shop craft employes, in Chicago, and have formally recognized "The Burlington Mechanical Employes' Association," the organization formed by the strike breakers. In announcing the new agreement, the Burlington executive declare that the shop strike is ended on their system so far as its effectiveness is concerned.

Included in the list of officials of the Burlington who met in Chicago with representatives of the new shop employes, were T. R. Roope, superintendent of motive power for tht lines west, W. F. Ackerman, shop superintendent at Havelock and Julius Dietrich, master mechanic of the Lincoln shops Word from Mr. Roope giving briefly the agreement entered into with the new employes, received Friday night was confirmed by Associated Press dispatches.

The new schedule is said to provide rates of pay varying from 63 to 85 cents an hour and provides a differential of two cents an hour for men working in the Wyoming district and on the McCook division. The Burlington shop forces are claimed to be over normal strength in numbers and the officials of the road state that the new agreement was made with "direct representatives of the present shop craft employes."

The Burlington guard organization locally has been slowly reduced in number as disturbances in the Lincoln district have ceased almost entirely. The shops and property of the Burlington are still under heavy guard however. Employment agencies are to be kept open for the time being to accommodate any skilled workmen who apply for—their old positions.—Very few unskilled men are being hired now.

Press reports indicate that the Union Pacific and the Rock Island have both likewise refused to join with some eastern roads in settling with the striking shop men and both roads are said to have full or over strength shop forces now at work

Average Pay Higher.

T. Roope, who returned to Lincoln early Saturday morning, expressed himself as much pleased at the result of the Chicago conference which was in progress for more than a week. The average schedule of pay for the shop men, he states, is higher than the labor board allowed, but lower than the rate in effect prior to July 1.

The chief innovation is the restoration of a sliding scale for various crafts which gives the workmen from 63 to 85 cents an hour according to class of work they do This system was in effect prior to the ruling of the labor board which make one uniform sale for all. The average uniform scale for all The average ploye now is to be 72 cents an hour while the labor board rate is 70 cents.

The local representatives of the new association of shop men were B. C. Barnes of Havelock and general chairman of the boiler makers here and J. C. McAuley, of Lincoln, general chairman of the electricians at the Lincoln round house. These with four others, made the agreement with the Burlington on the new schedule, which will be announced in full on Monday.

The new organization is not a union, but an association and it will deal directly with the railroad through board of adjustment which is to consist of three members of the shop crafts and three representatives of the Burlington.

Adopt Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted by the six representatives of the new shop men at the Chicago meeting.

Whereas, the system chairmen of the six shop crafts, their apprentices and helpers, duly elected under the constitution of the Mechanical Department Association of the Burlington railroad having assembled at Chicago for the purpose of formulating a schedule of rates of pay and working conditions of the shop employes they represent; and

Whereas, we assembled with a purpose of securing for those we represent equitable rates of pay and fair working conditions, convinced that we could ask no less, and actuated by a spirit of justice to the employes and fairness to the management; and

Whereas, we found ourselves wet with the same spirit, mutual concern for the welfare of the employes and the railroad on the part of the representatives of management:

Therefore, Be it resolved; that we do hereby express to Messrs. E. P. Bracken, vice-president; Mr. F. A. Torrey, general superintendent of motive power; Mr. J. W. Cyr, superintendent motive power, lines east, and Mr. T. Roope, superintendent motive power, lines west, and their associates in the present conferences, our deep appreciation of the straight forward and free manner in which we were able to deal in all of our negotiations; and

That we also express our conviction that these conferences have exemplified that employer and employe can get together amicably in a spirit of mutual accommodation and successfully and satisfactorily dispose of all matters of difference; and

That we pledge, so far as within our power, to encourage and promote among ourselves and among those whom we represent the spirit in which our relations have thus commenced by the agreement today reached

Be it further resolved, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the association, and a copy transmitted by the chairman and secretary to the officers named.

J. A. Johnson, general chairman, machinists, Galesburg.

B. C Barnes, general chairman, boilermakers, Havelock.

A. B. Cooper, general chairman, blacksmith, West Burlington.

J. C McAuley, general chairman, electricians, Lincoln

Mme. De Vilmar Gives Splendid Radio Program

MME. DE VILMAR.

One of the outstanding features of the Star radio concert which was broadcasted from The Star office Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock, was the program given by Mme. Laure De Vilmar, one of Lincoln's prominent prima donna sopranos.

Mme. De Vilmar has a rich dramatic soprano voice that is exceptionally pleasing. Her tones are pure and colorful, and her technique is accurate. Mme. De Vilmar has proven herself to be very versatile, handling her arias and heavy numbers with as much ease as hr more simple ones.

The program she gave Friday evening was one that would appeal to the general public. It was composed of numbers that gave the singer ample opportunity for artistic shading and yet were not too heavy to be appreciated by anyone who heard them.

Mme. De Vilmar gave the following song group:

"Thy Beaming Eyes," McDowell.
"The Star," Rogers.
"The Lilac Tree," Gartian.
"By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Thurlow Lieurance, one of Lincoln's composers.

Mme. De Vilmar was assisted in her program by Wilbur Chenoweth at the piano.

Glassman was taken to the office of Dr. F. Metheney, at Havelock, and appeared at first not to be badly hurt. He was taken home and about 9 p. m according to Dr. Metheney, grew worse.

Dr. F. M. Andrus was called into consultation and Glassman was then rushed to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Castle, Roper & Matthews' ambulance. At the hospital an operation was at once performed. Both doctors however declared Saturday morning, that Glassman's condition was very serious

WHITTIER PEOPLE PLAN TO ENLIST OTHER DISTRICTS

Arrange For City-Wide Mass Meeting of School Patrons Next Week.

Will Continue Fight Against Sending Children to Other Buildings.

A city-wide mass meeting, to which every school district in Lincoln will be invited to send representatives by the Whittier school district, will be held in the city auditorium sometime next week, it was decided at the close of another indignation meeting of nearly 300 Whittier school patrons, Friday night. The mass meeting will be held to protest against the Lincoln school board's new distribution plan

P. W. Jewett was elected chairman of the Friday night meeting. Practically every patron voted to continue the fight and parents will continue registering their children at Whittier school instead of sending them to other districts.

Attorney J. Lloyd McMaster addressed the meeting and said that he had investigated the situation, finding that children in upper grades in other districts were going farther to school than those in the Whittier district. However, he said, there were more Whittier district pupils from the lower grades assigned to other districts than in any other district under the new distribution plan.

Mr. McMaster declared that in his opinion legal proceedings against the school board would be fruitless. He said he did not think the patrons could get far in court when the board showed that other children were going farther than those residing in Whittier district, and the court might be favorable to any new plan which the school board is working out during a school building program.

Against Razing Whittier.

A committee of three, composed of Chairman Jewett, Mrs. Fred Barnett and Mrs. J. E. Chandler, was appointed to meet with Mr McMaster and the board of education to protest against tearing down the Whittier building.

Attorney McMaster advised the patrons to first try to persuade the school board. He said he did not think the patrons would gain anything by registering their children at Whittier school. He advised sending the pupils to the districts to which they had been assigned, but making it known that such was being done under protest. Some of the patrons disagreed with him and declared that to send their children back to the other schools would virtually amount to a surrender, at least in the eyes of the school board. Two patrons announced that they guessed they were "scabs" as they were sending their children to other districts rather than allow them to miss school.

A man living at Thirty-second and D streets, although not a Whittier school patron, declared that there is dissatisfaction all over the city. He has a child going a mile and a half to school, he stated. The fact that children in other districts are going farther than those in Whittier district did not appease him, he said. Others declared that the situation in the Whittier district is vastly different from any because of the fact that so many pupils from the lower grades must attend other schools In most of the other districts the redistribution has has affected mostly pupils in the upper grades, it was said.

Two Cars Stolen Here Friday Night

Two Ford cars were stolen in Lincoln Friday night. About 10 p. m., Friday, the police received a call from a woman saying that she had just seen a man drive off with the car of William Loos, 427 South Nineteenth street, which was parked in front of the Evans laundry, a Twelfth and R streets. The woman said that the thief had driven east on R street Officer Rymer jumped on his motorcycle and went down R street at high speed, and went clear to Waverly in an effort to overtake the stolen machine.

"I thought that the thief might be heading for Omaha along the D. L. D. road, so I went that way," Officer Rymer said. "I am convinced that the man turned off somewhere, or else I would have caught him, as I was only about four or five minutes behind him."

While Officer Rymer was away on this chase, the police received a report of the theft of another Ford car, taken from in front of the Y. M. C. A. It was the property of E. L. Mills 2672 ewell streetS. Neither car had been recovered Saturday morning

STOCKYARDS WIN TWO OLD SUITS

Act of Congress Took Jurisdiction in Matter From the States.

Because congress has passed a law taking control of stockyards out of the hands of the states and vesting it in the federal department of agriculture, the Nebraska railway commission has made an order dismissing two cases involving charges for feed at South Omaha, which have been pending before it for several years.

The congressional legislation was contested in two suits brought in other states, but the federal supreme court has sustained its validity. On this subject, the order of the Nebraska body says:

"The federal act removes from the jurisdiction of this commission all stockyards in Nebraska. There is a nominal exception of yards having a ground space of less than 20,000 square feet, which is something less than the size of three ordinary town lots. Such an insignificant exemption only emphasizes the very clear purpose that lay at the bottom of this legislation, which was completely to divest the state of all jurisdiction.

No Demand For It.

Why congress had such purpose is obscure. True, there were some congressional committee hearings and some findings by the committees, but it can fairly be said that there was no general demand for the legislation and no public discussion of it.

"It is obvious that the fixing of the charges of stockyards can be more intelligently and justly controlled by the authorities in Nebraska than by those far removed who cannot possibly be so well informed as to local conditions. However, congress has spoken, and there is nothing further to be done except to dismiss the proceedings."

During the war, when the price of corn was at a high level, the state commission made an order limiting charges at the South Omaha stockyards to a margin of 10 cents per bushel over the average market price of the month preceding. The company appealed to the Nebraska supreme court and the order was annulled. Since then, the stockyards company has been fixing its own rates without interference by the commission.

LINCOLN'S ACCIDENTAL DEATH RATE.

The "speed-fiend," and the criminally careless automobile driver, should take heed of the statement issued by Supt. C. F. Chapman of the city bureau of health.

Dr. Chapman yesterday contributed the rather startling information that Lincoln's accidental death rate is higher proportionately than in New York city, the world's greatest city. Supporting his charges he points out that the accidental death rate in Lincoln in the past three years averaged 75.1 persons for every 100,000 inhabitants. In New York City it was only 64.3.

The city health superintendent is authority for the statement that Lincoln's high accidental death rate is due to reckless automobile driving.

This newspaper has had much to say in recent years in relation to careless automobile driving. It believes that in the main the Lincoln police officials have endeavored to enforce the traffic regulations, even over difficulties which have made it almost impossible to obtain the best results. In a nut shell, the chief obstacle has been a lack of appreciation on the part of the automobile drivers and a seeming disregard of traffic regulations. Without the proper sentiment to enforce the regulations, the job of the officials has been a very difficult one. There are too many "speed-fiends" in this city and too many "road-hogs." Five fatal accidents in one day in this state, due to careless automobile driving, is altogether too heavy a toll for the negligent automobile driver.

Compare Lincoln's record with New York City. In the world's greatest metropolis, in the most congested traffic, the record reveals a minimum of accidents. Perhaps automobile drivers in New York City scrupulously observe traffic regulations because to disregard them means an accident. It likewise means arrest and a severe fine or jail sentence.

The problem is altogether too big for Lincoln's limited police force. The automobile driver at least should endeavor to assist the officers by carefully observing traffic regulations and by reporting all infractions which come to his attention. Ultimately some organization, perhaps the Licoln Automobile club, or a civilian committee, will have to assist the officers in seeing that all traffic violators are made to pay for their wanton recklessness. Human life is too precious to be ground out under the wheels of an automobile piloted by some "speed-fiend."

THE DEATH OF ROBERT WEIDENSALL.

The funeral of Robert Weidensall was held in Omaha Friday afternoon at the Omaha Y. M. C. A. The news story of his death and funeral may have escaped the eyes of thousands of the busy workers of Nebraska.

Yet there is a very particular reason why Nebraskans and people in all of the nations of the world may feel grateful for the services of Robert Weidensall. Weidensall was the founder of the Omaha Y. M. C. A. He was the pioneer secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. For over half a century Mr. Weidensall devoted his life to association work. He organized the Omaha "Y" in 1867, just fifty-five years ago. A year later he became the first paid employe of the international committee, selected to organize associations along the line of the Union Pacific railroad. He extended his activities in organizing local and state associations to the American colleges and universities and then later made the organization in the rural communities by organizing county associations.

At the age of 71, Mr. Weidensall made a world inspection trip, visiting associations in Japan, China, Asia Minor, Constantinople, Greece, Germany, Italy, France, Spain, Portugal, Great Britain, Canada and the United States—the longest ever undertaken by any Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Weidensall left no colossal fortune at the sunset of an unusually long and active life. But he left a heritage of the grateful appreciation of thousands of young men in America who had been bettered as a result of their association with him.

WHAT MAKES FOR EDUCATION.

George Woods, speaking to the patrons of the Whittier school district as a member but not a representative of the Lincoln board of education, reminded his audience that when the old Whittier school building is demolished and the children who would have attended it have been received at other schols that "they will be able to attend newer, larger and more sanitary schools with consequent better educational advantages in every way."

We rise to no defense of the little red school house about which poets and state superintendents disagree. But the argument seems based on an incorrect assumption of what is needed to give a child educational advantages. We have progressed far in the improvement of school buildings along sanitary lines; we have better plumbing, ventilating, lighting and heating than we used to enjoy. That is all as it should be. But if we are going to measure educational advantages according to the size of the school house or the amount of terra cotta on the Gothic entrance it seems time to call a halt.

If the old Whittier school house is built as well as experts say it is; if it is ventilated, heated, lighted as it should be or can be made so, and if the sanitary conditions are as satisfactory or can be made as satisfactory there as the city's sanitary inspector says they can be made, then the destruction of the old building will be an extravagant blunder. Just now Lincoln can not afford to be extravagant in its school system.

Why can not the elementary grades—or any grades so far as that is concerned, be taught as successfully outside of as well as inside of marble halls? Why will a teacher have more success with the A B C's of education in the Prescott school than she will in the old Whittier building? And why will the Whittier children have superior educational advantages if they attend school in a palatial structure instead of a satisfactory, practicable, old red school house?

MANHATTAN'S NEW PROBLEM.

Reports from the island of Manhattan, on which the city of New York nestles like an overstuffed pin cushion, indicate that the engineers of that great metropolis have another serious problem which must be solved. The sudden collapse of buildings and the inexplainable bursting of water mains in recent months is explained now as a result of the powerful blasting which, it is said, is almost always going on deep down in the underlying rock structure of the island.

Just now there is building in New York a great hotel, the Hotel Commonwealth, which is to occupy all the space between Fifty-fifth street and Fifty-sixth street between Broadway and Seventh avenue. As is usual with great buildings whose greatest dimension is skyward, the foundations of this structure are being placed far down into bed rock and to make room for the construction tremendous blasts of dynamite are being exploded in the back bone of Manhattan island.

These shocks, experts are beginning to believe, are carried by the rock strata peculiar to the island, a great distance, causing vibrations, which when repeated almost constantly will in time weaken the under pinnings of the great buildings and cause the unexplained water main and sewer line breakings.

Manhattan Island, these experts say, has become very sensitive. It is subjected to a never ending series of shocks due to the never ending activities that are going on above and around it as well as through it. More rigid restrictions in building laws may be necessary to keep the world's greatest city from shivering itself into a heap of rubbish.

SCHOOLS AND RESPECT FOR LAW.

The superintendent of the Kansas City schools would introduce a fourth "R" in the schools and have every teacher make instruction in a respect for law a vital part of the daily task. Officials of the Kansas State Teachers' association have prepared a resolution calling on teachers to redouble efforts to establish American ideals in the minds of pupils, "especially such ideals as make for a wholesome respect for law and law enforcement."

The only move that would hold out more promise of results than an attempt of this kind would be widespread instruction in respect for law and its enforcement in the home. But starting the latter would be difficult, far more difficult than action on a large scale by the schools. Necessity for the instruction arises from the fact that disregard for law and actual lawlessness, to an extent unequaled in any other civilized country, have become such commonplaces to the American way of thinking that years of persistent effort will be required to bring about changed conceptions in the minds of the public.

There is not much hope in the process for conversion of the criminal element or an immediate urge to enforcement of the law. The latter must come through other means, while the former hardly may be expected to come at all. But there will be this very certain value in determined efforts to make boys and girls as mindful of law and order as of the necessity for food or bodily protection. A public sentiment so strong in a respect for law and its enforcement will be developed that any man who contemplates crime will be led to weigh seriously the consequences of his act. He will not have the feeling, altogether too common now, that he may commit any one of a long list of offenses and stand an excellent chance of getting by with it.

It is this increasingly pernicious idea of getting by that is at the bottom of more than one peculiar condition in America. There has been too much respect for the man who made a million without particular regard as to how he made it; too much admiration for the outlaw of industry and business, as of the frontier, without regard to the fact that the violator of law, in any capacity, is the common enemy of society.

The condition largely has been due to the nature of the country's development. American history for a considerable period was marked by successive establishment of new communities or frontiers, each of which came to make and observe laws in its own fashion. With the sparsely settled sections of an earlier day it was possible, too, for each individual to be pretty much a law unto himself. Then it was possible, without severe consequences, to laugh at the precedents, customs, institutions, laws, of a more permanently established society.

But the situation is changed, has been changed for years, while America has had to suffer from the natural result of the older order. With rapidly growing cities, with a more compact society whose welfare is conditioned upon restraint of the individual, law and order. there yet has been the thug, the bandit, the rings of vice and crime that a too lax public sentiment allowed to exist.

The unusual prevalence of crime and lawlessness in the last few years ought to serve as an abrupt and costly reminder of the necessity of another change, a change in thought and action that will mean an obedience to law and hard sledding for the law breaker. The schools may help materially to bring in the new order—Kansas City Star.

WELL, WE'RE MAKING PROGRESS, ANYWAY.

H. L. Mencken recently declared in London that the United States is only half civilized. We suppose Mr. Mencken meant that as a fling at his country. Our intelligentsia when abroad must always make an epigram on America of some sort. It is expected of them, and if they disappoint in that particular they are likely to be put down as uncultured. That is why there are so many bad epigrams on America.

But if Mr. Mencken had devoted a little more thought to his remark he might have improved it. That America is only half civilized is only half a thought. It is only a premise the conclusion of which is that Europe isn't civilized at all. We do not of course know what Mr. Mencken's idea of civilization is, but if America has attained to it in part he ought, it would seem, to have hailed the achievement as encouraging. He ought to have congratulated his country on it and urged Europe to emulation. If America is only half caught up with Mr. Mencken it's doing pretty well for a young country that didn't start out with Mr. Mencken's advantages, and we think he ought to pat it on the head and urge it to renewed effort instead of rebuking it.

Civilization is a handy word to throw about, but we wish Mr. Mencken had defined it. One would like to know in what degree he considers the rest of the world civilized. No society has reached a state of perfection, we suppose, but in most of the securities that are accepted as going to make life tolerable, America, for the moment, seems to have something of an edge on most countries. It has a fair degree of public order, compared with Europe; life and property have the theoretical protection of law anyway; there is food and fuel for all if there is some difficulty at times in getting it properly distributed; there is considerable freedom of action even if we are not always permitted to work when we want to, and there is almost complete freedom of opinion—Mr. Mencken can write what he wants to, and if people want to they can read what he writes. We suppose in a state of perfection everybody would read Mr. Mencken and agree with him, but we haven't reached that stage and maybe never will. Still, for a workable if rough civilization—if that's the word, which we don't insist upon—it answers.

Some time maybe we'll find out what civilization is, and then we can all join in elevating America to that condition. In the meantime if there are drawbacks to a half civilization, we ought, perhaps, to make the best of it. When it gets too intolerable we can, if free to follow Mr. Mencken's example, go to Europe and get a breath of fresh air.—Kansas City Star.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

The Order of Eagles, at its recent convention, began a movement to bring about national legislation by which those over sixty years of age will receive state aid.

The idea is not new, although it has not been much tried in this country. Germany was the first country to provide compulsory old age insurance. Every employer was compelled to provide his employees with old age insurance cards with the proper numbers and amounts of stamps affixed. These stamps entitled their holders to certain annuities, and the government supplemented them by payments out of the imperial treasury. The plan was after the manner of the paternalistic German government before the war.

In 1908 Great Britain also passed an old age pension law that provided government payments to citizens more than seventy years old. This gratuity was made conditional on its recipient having lived in Great Britain for twenty years and having been neither a pauper nor a criminal. It was given only to citizens whose incomes did not exceed one hundred and fifty dollars a year.

Old age pensions are still in the experimental stage. Although they might mean good to some individuals, they also carry many serious dangers, and they do not seem to be in keeping with the spirit of America. Old age pensions would tend to discourage thrift in the young, and greatly increase the expense and complicate the functions of government. The old age pension is a form of paternalism that would inevitably tend to weaken that foresight and care which every individual ought to develop in himself.

Sixty years as the age limit for such gratuities is unduly low. This nation has many men like Chauncey Depew, Charles W. Eliot, Joseph Cannon, John Wanamaker and others, who are rendering some of their best service at eighty or more. In fact, many men just begin to strike their real gait at fifty-five or sixty. To pension at this age mature citizens who are wise in counsel would tend to rob the nation of many of its active in good works.—Minneapolis Journal.

AMERICANISM.

America, if it is to be understood, appreciated and properly valued, must be thought of not as a mere nation or country, and certainly not as a mere sentiment, but rather as an aggregate of institutions which have been developed out of centuries of struggle and sacrifice, and without liberty, as we know it, could never have come into being or have been maintained. No education in Americanism that does not make this clear and bring it within the comprehension of all our people is of much value The subject is one which can not, with any profit, be superficially taught, for to teach it superficially is to teach it wrongly.

The history of America began long before America herself began, by no means starting at Plymouth Rock and Jamestown, or with the revolution. This is no paradox, but sober truth. Our history is written in the English common law, which is today—as are the early English statutes—part of the law of Indians. There is no man—unless charged with treason or felony—held in jail who can not by means of the writ of habeas corpus have a judicial inquiry into the question as to whether he is rightly restrained. This great writ dates from the passage of the habeas corpus act in the reign of Charles II. It is one of the great bulwarks against tyranny. Men charged with crimes of misdemeanors must be tried by jury, are entitled to counsel whether they can pay for them or not, may compel the summoning of witnesses in their own behalf, can not be forced to incriminate themselves, and must be proved guilty beyond reasonable doubt. All these safeguards are a race inheritance.

So of the two-house legislative system, of the control of the army and navy by the lower house, of the requirement that money bills originate in the lower house, of due process of law and equal protection of the law—it is of these great institutional safeguards that Americanism and American liberty are compacted. And they are all part of that great system which English-speaking peoples have carried with them over the world. A hundred years after the establishment of the habeas corpus principle in England, men in France were arrested on secret process, set in motion by royal whim or personal enmity, and thrown into dungeons without any pretense of a hearing. Men from other lands who set foot on our shores are told that they are free—as they are—but they should be also told why they are free, what it is that makes them free and protects and insures their liberty, and taught the history of the origin and development of American liberty. It is not a thing of yesterday, or of the enigheenth century—it is the product of the labors, struggles and sacrifices of a thousand years, and is rooted in history, as it should be in every American heart. The flag is glorious because it is the visible symbol of all this. When men die for the flag they die for this liberty, as they did during the great world war. If our universities, colleges and schools are not teaching this sort of Americanism they are pitiably—and perhaps fatally—failing in their duty. It is thought to be of great importance—and it is—that children should know how our flag came into being. But it is still more important that they should know how the great institutions without which our liberties could not survive, came into being.—Indianapolis News.

PUBLIC BONDED DEBTS OF STATE TOTAL $73,000,000

One-Third of This Huge Sum Owing by Douglas County and Subdivisions.

No State Bonded Debt in Last 20 Years—Lancaster Total is $5,000,000.

Over $73,000,000 of bonded indebtedness, of which one-third is owing by Douglas county, the city and the school district of Omaha, and other local subdivisions is now recorded on the books of State Auditor Marsh against the various counties, school districts, municipalities and public subdivisions of Nebraska.

The sate government has had no bonded debt for more than twenty years. Its current expenditures, as well as its outlay for new buildings, roads and all kinds of property investment, are paid out of ordinary receipts, including taxes, fees, license federal aid and miscellaneous income.

It has been the practice of the counties and other local subdivisions, however to issue bonds for constructing improvements and, in some cases to make up deficits in current funds. The general tendency has been to increase bonded indebtedness, instead of paying off what has been accumulated in the past. There are very few municipalities or school districts, without some bonds outstanding against them.

Big Jump in Bond Registration.

At the state auditor's office, bonds issued by the various subdivisions are being registered at an ever increasing rate. Four years ago the average per month was little above $300,000. During the seventeen months prior to July 1, 1922 the average per month was over 1,400,000. The boided indebtedness of the counties of the state, including their subdivisions such as municpals, school districts, irrigation districts, etc., now totals $73,760,187, ranging for 23,721,907 for Douglas county incluling Omaha, and the Omaha school district down to $1,000 for the Thomas county The average for all counties inclusive, is $793,,120.

State Accountant C. A. Sommer has prepared comparative statement for the biennial report of State Auditor Marsh, showing the indebtedness of each county to its wealth—the per mill indebtedness of each county in proportion to its wealth—the per mill indebtedness is based on the assessed valuation for the year 1921. The indebtedness figures were furnished by Bond Examiner Ralph C. Lawrence, of the state auditor's department, who had taken up the matter with the county arthorities in order to insure a correct tabulation.

The fllowing counties, including their subdivisions, have a bonded indebtedness exceeding a million dollars each

Douglas county	$23,721,907
Lancaster county	5,109,337
Scotts Bluff	2,336,417
Madison county	1,467,528
Gage county	1,381,684
Dodge county	1,312,045
Hall county	1,294,900
Custer county	1,250,503
Saunders county	1,244,909
Buffalo county	1,188,365
Adams county	1,179,620
Dawes county	1,162,292
Lincoln county	1,001,150

Garden Highest Per Capita.

Douglas county, including the city of Omaha with its municpal water works, gas and ice plant, leads of course in total indebtedness; but when it comes to per capita indebtedness some of the western counties run it a close race. In per mill indebtedness, Scotts Bluff takes first rank and in per capita indebtedenss Garden is leading:

The following counties including subdivisions, have a per capita indebtedness exceeding $80 each:

Garden county	$125.80
Douglas county	115.98
Dawes county	114.39
Scotts Bluff county	112.81
Box Butte county	97.06
Wayne county	90.60
Morrill county	89.82
Keith county	89.52
Cheyenne county	85.96
Kimball county	81.99
Perkins county	81.44
Grant county	80.21

The greatest per mill indebtedness, meaning amount of bonds issued for each 1,000 assessed valuation, is in the following counties:

Scotts Bluff county	$72.63
Douglas county	66.31
Dawes county	57.81
Box Butte county	50.91
Morrill county	43.49
Garden county	42.95
Red Willow county	36.67
Lancaster county	29.10
Lincoln county	28.12
Hall county	27.63

There are nine counties having less than $50,000 bonded indebtedness:

Thomas county	$ 1,000
Hayes county	1,600
Banner county	3,740
McPherson county	6,125
Wheeler county	23,800
Arthur county	31,700
Sioux county	35,795
Loup county	38,430
Rock county	39,145

Figures for Lancaster.

The indebtedness for Lancaster county, including the city of Lincoln and other subdivisions is given as $5,109,337, made up as follows:

City and village	$2,721,663
School districts	2,054,800
County	328,944
Drainage district	3,930
Total	$5,109,337

Lancaster county occupies a middle position as far as per capita and per mill indebtedness is concerned. The average per capita for all counties is $56.90; for Lancaster county $58.47. The average per mill indebtedness for Lancaster county is $29.10, as against an average of $22.26 for all counties.

Agricultural News of Nebraska Counties

Issues New Bulletin.

LINCOLN—The department of animal husbandry of the state agricultural college has just issued a bulletin on Growth Studies of Dairy Heifers. The booklet discloses the effect of light and heavy feeding of wide and narrow rations and was compiled by W. B. Nevens, E. G. Woodward and J. W. Hendrickson, acting under the supervision of J. H. Frandsen. These men collected the material and the book was prepared for publication by H. P. Davis and Benjamin Masurovsky.

The compilers say that the experiments were made on eight Jersey heifers and an equal number of Holsteins. As a result of the experimental feeding of these animals the compilers came to the following conclusions:

1. Liberal feeding of either a corn or mixed grain ration supplemented with alfalfa hay, produced greater height at withers in growing Holstein and Jerseys heifers than light feeding.
2. The greatest gain in height at withers took place in Jerseys between the second and the sixth month in Holsteins between the fourth and the eighth month.
3. If gain in height is an index of skeletal developement, then mineral metabolism in growing dairy heifers was probably greatest between the sixth and eighth month.
4. Liberal feeding of grain, either corn or mixed grains, during the first six months, while milk was fed, appears to have been of no value in producing additional gain in weight as compared with light feeding.
5. Liberal feeding of grain, either corn or mixed grain, produced Holsteins that at two years of age were 150 pounds heavier than the lightly fed ones, in the case of the Jerseys, the liberally fed ones weighed approximately 50 pounds more than the lightly fed ones.

Showing At State Fair.

SYRACUSE—Otoe county boys and girls' club work was much in evidence at the state fair this year, with entries in the following classes: cooking, clothing, corn, poultry and swine, and in addition to these entries, Mrs. Russell's club of Palmyra, put on a poultry demonstration. The prizes won by Otoe county boys and girls were as follows:

Won Fair Prizes.

GENEA—Fillmore county Fillmore county cleaned up in rope tying demonstrations at the state fair last week. Ozro Anderson of Burress, this county scored a first, while Walter Winkler of the same place took second place and Paul Stazgow, also of Burress, third. Several miner prizes went to the rop tyers of districts 33 and 25.

Early Plowing Best.

LINCOLN—Farmers who got their fall wheat land plowed early are fortunate, according to experts at the state agricultural college. July and early August has proven best by test, they declare. Early plowed fields seeded about Sept. 20 have given the best results, is the opinion of the experts. At the agricultural college farm in this city, September 20 seeding has yielded 39.6 bushels, October 1 seeding, 38.2 bushels, October 15 seeding 28.5 bushels and Nov. 1 seeding 12 bushels, according to records kept at the farm. Too early seeding is said to be more likely to be attacked by Hessian Fly. Late plowed land, in addition to being in poorer condition for seeding, must usually be seeded later than experiment has shown to be best, the specialist declare.

Other Prizes at Fair.

WEEPING WATER—The stoc judging team composed of Cecil Jacobsen, Roy Sickman and Carl Handrock of Eagle, won fifth place in team judging at the state fair, Jacobsen won first place in hog judging, Sickman, fourth place in sheep judging an Handrock, fifth place in the judging of horses. The Dairy club of Nehawka, composed of Frank and Ernest Pollard and Marion Stone obtained first place in judging Guernsey cows and third in cattle judging.

Other prizes won by Cass county boys and girls follow:

Second prizes in home economics were won by Alba Lund of Weeping Water and a girl from Greenwood.

Cass county had the most girls in camp at the commons on the state fair grounds and exhibited the largest display of clothing in the booths. Clothing, as made by Cass county girls' club obtained nine prizes.

BATTLE CREEK—Madison county livestock fared well at the state fair last week. John Volk, Herman Bierman and Dauphen and Son showed Hampshires while Mr. Rasmussen, John Rodekohr and Son and the Norfolk Packing Company exhibited Durocs. Mr. Volk won five firsts on his Hampshires while Herman Bierman broke through the winning every time except once that he drove out. Dauphen had but one entry, the aged boar class, in which he won third place. Mr. Rasmussen won first in aged sow, first in Junior yearling, as well as grand champion sow, while his Junior yearling boar sired by Giant Sensation stood first, second and third in the class. John Rodekohr and Son got in the money with their fall boar and senior sow.

Two new circulars covering the subject of fabrics have been received from the extension department of the University of Nebraska Agricultural college. One of these is called "Fabrics—How to Buy Them" and the other is entitled "Fabrics—How to Know and Use Them." The Madison county farm bureau is distributing the circulars.

September 29 has been set for the regular monthly meeting of the Madison County Farm Bureau board. The meeting will take up the subject of planning the farm bureau work for the coming year, especially in extension work. Director Brokaw of the University of Nebraska Extension service is expected to attend and address the meeting. Arrangements are being made to have each township represented at this meeting.

Mrs. J. H. Hunter is credited with the highest production record for her flock of Barred Rocks in the accredited farm flocks project, according to the report for the month of July, just received at the farm bureau office from the University of Nebraska Extension Service. Her flock was rated one of the highest in point of production of all entries in the project.

OUR PHILIPPINE POLICY.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Mr. Osmena, leading Philippine politican and champion of the independence party, has told his followers on his return from Washington that Mr. Harding favors the retirement of American representation in the government of the islands. Mr. Osmena's idea seems to be that the Filipinos shall be in complete control of the island's affairs, but that we shall retain naval bases and garrisons He assures us that the Filipions wish to maintain naval bases and garrisons with the United States, which is their best market.

This is very comforting. We are to maintain naval basses and garrisons "for the protection of American interests" in the east and incidentally for the defense of the Philippines from aggression. That is, the Filipinos are to be free to cause wars and we are to have the privilege of fighting for them.

We doubt if Mr. Harding has any such arrangement in view. Gen. Wood and his commission of inquiry are for remaining in the Philippines but when we hear from Gen. Wood that he is for remaining without participation in the government of the islands we shall believe he is for that arrangement—and not before

Our own idea of our policy is not dogmatic, but is inclines strongly towards getting out of the islands and getting out entirely At present they are an obligation rather than an asset and offer an exposed and virtually indefensible flank. Nothing offered by the Philippines could compensate us for the burden of maintaining a navy and army large enough to defend them from Japan and we are cutting our navy and army even below a proper defense rating. Perhaps we can reach a reliable understanding with Japan, or arrange a neutral status for the islands. Until we do so they are inconsistent with our Pacific program and a constant threat to our peace We are not planning an aggressive campaign in the far east, but, on the contrary, have entered into treaties of naval reduction and of peaceful relations which make such a campaign impossible. But the Philippines are a responsibility and a danger and we ought to divest ourselves of them or change our military and naval policy so as to conform to our obligation.

Probably the best solution is international neutralization.

BOARD ENDORSES ONLY PROGRESSIVE PARTY CANDIDATES

B. of R. T. Legislative Body Rescinds Action of Chadron Man.

Strong Stand Against Putting Republicans and Democrats in Office.

W. H. Shropshire, secretary of the Nebraska State legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen has sent the following letter to L. T. Jefferys, secretary of the legislative committee of the Federated Shop Crafts and Big Four Brotherhoods, at Chadron, Neb., which is called to the attention of the membership of all lodges of the transportation brotherhoods and their auxiliaries in Nebraska.

My dear Sir:

"Replying to your communication of September 1, 1922, regarding a purported endorsement you have given to some state and congressional candidates in the republican democratic and progressive parties, you ask if this endorsement is agreeable to the Nebraska state legislative board of the B. of R. T., we authorize no member of our order to act for the B. of R. T., and we rescind the action of O. E. Dugan of Chadron, Neb., in being a party to your endorsement.

"Your endorsement of the progressive candidates, T. J. Ellsberry for Lieutenant fovernor, Grant L. Shumway for state auditor, John Franklin for congress in the Fifth district and C. E. Beal in the Sixth congressional district are entirely satisfactory to the Nebraska state legislative board of the B. of R. T. But the remainder of the candidates you endorse, namely R. B. Howell, republican candidate for United States senator, Charles Bryan, democrat for governor, Charles Randall, republican for state railway commissioner, George E. Hall democrat for state treasureer, and Dan Swanson, republican, for land commissioner are absolutely and unequivocally unsatisfactory, and your endorsement of these Townley balance of power candidates or wet nurses for the Chamber of Commerce and special interests is an insult to the intelligence of all thinking persons in both the farmer and labor classes.

Against Balance of Power Scheme.

"In Nebraska, the progressive party was organized to do away entirely with this balance of power idea and the candidates are farmers, laborers and progressive citizens who have gone on record against government by injunction, the full repeal of the Esch-Cummins Act and the Federal Reserve Bank act, an act which has given to a private owned bankers' corporation the right to issue money which rightfully belongs to the people of the United States, and whose recent deflation has caused 5,000,000 men to be thrown out of employment, farm products to be sold below the cost of production leaving a trail of misery, poverty bankruptcy, and suicide.

"How can any intelligent voter continue to vote the republican and democratic tickets after knowing the condition we have been placed in by these two parties? And the supporting of republicans and democrats in this balance of power scheme only keeps republicans and democrats in office. Over 80 per cent of all cast are the toilers' votes, then why advocate the balance of power when the people are all powerful in a party like the progressive party?

"This man, R. B. Howell, you have endorsed for United States senator, betrayed the confidence of the voters of Nebraska when he refused to vote as they had directed him to vote for Hiram Johnson for president, and he has refused to come out and take a stand for the repeal in its entirety of the Esch-Cummins act. He does not make a stand on government by injunction and is opposed to government ownership of railroads. These facts ought to be enough to prevent any laboring man from voting for this cadnidate.

"Charles Bryan, the candidate for governor on the democratic ticket, has made a tieup with Senator Hitchcock, a tool of Wall stret and the special interests. Bryan is the Chamber of Commerce candidate.

"And the other candidates you have endorsed are the willing dupes of the special interests and should be defeated for office.

Endorse Parmenter for Governor

"Harry C. Parmenter, the progressive candidate for governor, is a dirt farmer, member of the Farmers' Union and Farm bureau, and should be entitled to the support of all members of labor and farmers over the state. Clyde J. Fernandes, candidate for state railway commissioner, is a member of the B. of L. E. No. 183, while you have gone on record as endorsing a banker for this position, overlooking one of your own men. Mary E. Axtell, candidate for commissioner of public lands and buildings, a member of Ladies' Auxuliary of B. of L. E., at North Platte, Neb., should have your endorsement. The balance of the ticket and the legislative tickets over the state is composed of the membership of the five transportation brotherhoods, the federated shop crafts together with many farmer candidates.

"The Nebraska state legislative board of the B. of R. T., will not compromise with republicans or democrats in this Townley balance of power plan, for the reason that both of these old parties are responsible for our present economic conditions. There is only one way out and that is to clean house politically in the state and nation, and in Nebraska the remedy is to get out and work and vote for the progressive party ticket in its entirety, and any member of organized labor who does not vote for the straight progressive ticket is voting against the best interests of organized labor. We want it distinctly understood that the Nebraska state legislative board of the B. of R. T., endorse the progressive party platform and all its candidates and urge the membership of this organization to get out on election day and vote as a unit for this party.

"Speaking tours over the state will be made by state candidates and other speakers in the interests of the progressive party; do not fail to hear them when billed to speak in your town. Fraternally yours,

CHAPTER 749.

Dad Lee's visit left me puzzling over what Pancho could have told him. I felt sure there was something I ought to know, and I was equally certain that Dad Lee wouldn't give me the information except in his own good time and in his own strange way.

'For the present—forget it, Mrs. Harrison," I admonished myself. And proceeded to obey my own command and settle down to a day of real work. When night came I hadn't finished, so Betty and I stayed late and disposed of an enormous amount of detail.

The next day started off with the rush that comes of getting a job on a clear track. We all plugged away valiantly, and with such perfect coordination that the place fairly hummed with activity. At noon Miss May ventured into my office, the inner, "private" office, where I'd taken my place almost automatically since Betty's arrival. "Have you a minute?" she asked.

"For you?' I bantered. "Now where would I get a minute for you?"

"I don't know where you get a minute for anyone with all you're doing," replied the dear little soul gravely. "But I must tell you what Max Hoadley said last night about the copy Betty Winston helped me plan. He said it was crackerjack good stuff and that she was a bit of all right."

"You're a perfect mimic," I explained. But Miss May replied daintly:

"I hope I didn't make him cheap by imitating him. That's a fine boy, Anne, only he needs a lot of guiding and smoothing down. Mothering."

"Mother him all you like, you darling. He's worth helping," I said gravely, resisting all desire to tease. "It's wonderful how Betty has taken hold. I do believe you and she could run the place."

'Mrs. Harrison!"

Miss May fairly shrieked it. Her tone held protest and panic.

"What's the matter" I asked.

'Promise me one thing. Tell me one thing," she stammered. "Tell me you aren't getting me to break Mrs. Winston in with any idea of having her take your place. I'd be scairt to death without you. Max Hoadley said last night that you were one of the best executives he'd ever seen, for a woman. You're the head and front of this place. It'd fall to pieces without you. I'm scairt at your tone. Oh, my dear! I love this office—its atmosphere and all. You aren't intending"——

Her voice died away, and little Miss May stumbled into a chair and sat staring at me wide-eyed, adding in a gasping tone:

"You got Betty in here. She needs this. She needs you. I'm only your —shadow. You're everything!"

There were tears in my eyes as I went over and laid my arm across my little partner's shaking shoulders.

'Bless your heart, dear, there's nothing to get excited about," I said emphatically. "This little new baby of a business of ours is beginning to be a fine sturdy child. Don't you think I take some pride in that?"

"Yes, but—you've other interests—other calls. You might"——

"I might—fiddlesticks! This business was my idea. I don't forget that. The theory has begun to work out well in practice. There are four of us here now. There will be six—eight—maybe a dozen needed some day. But my hand's put to the plow and I don't intend taking it off. We'll see this job of ours through together, Susanna May. This is my business. I owe it as much as it owes me. You've helped me see it through to this point. I owe it to you to march along by your side while we carry it to the next rung of the ladder. I'm here for keeps."

"Thank goodness. I'm sure of that!" cried Miss May, wiping her eyes barefacedly, while a smile twinkled through. "Now I'm not afraid to make Mrs. Winston a 100 per cent expert," she laughed. "Otherwise I guess I'd have held out on you."

With a jerk my mind came back in a realization that young Frank had borne me a note this morning asking me to be at the Star in time for lunch. The press of business plus my chat with Miss May had delayed me. So as she hurried out to join Betty for lunch I took down the telephone to say I'd be on my way shortly. But when I got Mr. Lacy his voice came back with a note of shortness I'd never known him to use.

"You aren't angry?" I asked with a sense of disappointment and hurt.

His answer seemed to have very little to do with my question.

"Didn't you get good results from your previous want ad?" he asked.

"YoYu don't understand," I gave back with a sense of relief at his seeming blunder. "This is Anne Harrison. I'm phoning to say I'm just ready to start and sorry for the delay"——

"Quite so," he replied imperturbably. "I thought you'd find that our columns always give service. But we don't close the forms and go to press as early as you seem to think. You's quite right not to truth this important advertisement to the wires or messenger. I think you should bring it down in person. But we don't need it for tomorrow's make-up until 4 o'clock. Five! Did you get that"

"Yes," I answered, reacting to what I now realized was a code. "You want me to bring the ad down in person and 5 o'clock is time enough. I'll be able to get out some good copy by then.

"That's fine," he said, abating no jot of his crisp business tone. "I thought you would be able to meet my ideas in the matter. No use employing advertising experts unless you can work in perfect harmony with them and adopt their methods. I ive then. Good-bye, Madame."

I turned my good-bye to the needs of the occasion and plunged back into my work on the now almost completed Dalton-Sturgess campaign Again I lunched on a sandwich and cup of coffee brought me by Frank and stayed right on the job, which needed just such concentrated work as I was giving it. But all that day —strive as I might to banish it—there came back the question: Who had been in Ralph Lacy's office to make him act and talk so?

'When I left the office at four-thirty, I told Betty not to worry if I was late for dinner or didn't arrive at all. But I added no other information, since Mr. Lacey's manner had conveyed to me the need of absolute secrecy. I didn't like hiding my movements from Betty and Miss May—but ever since I enlisted in the ranks to fight for Jim I've been made to realize that a private has to march under orders and put the cause above self.

I arrived at Mr. Lacey's office on schedule time, but, greatly to my astonishment, Jerry informed me that he had been called out and wouldn't be back for an hour. Curbing my natural impatience, I accepted the latest editions of the afternoon papers and pratetended to read. One by one the advertising staff left the department, but I was conscious that faithful Jerry waited with me. He marched in and out now and then—unobtrusively but reassuringly.

At last the door opened and in came Ralph Lacy. He wore an air of suppressed excitement. Again he made me think of Neal. But I found myself reflecting that under the circumstances—which I sensed were unusual—Neal would be dancing and swinging me around by my tightly clutched hands.

Ralph came toward me quietly, smilng, intent. He did not speak the usual greeting. He simply advanced until he stood directly before me. Then very gravely, his eyes almost stern, he asked:

"Mrs. Harrison—before I tell you mby plans for this evening, answer one question—not to me—to yourself. Answer it—carefully. Do you trust me absolutely?"

Health Meetings Held in Nebraska Towns This Week

Several child health conferences were held in Nebraska this week by state and federal workers. Miss Kate Lincoln visited Beaver City on Wednesday and conducted one where twenty babies were examined and instruction given as to their care, feeding and correction of defects. This meeting was under the auspices of the Woman's club. Four local physicians assisted.

Miss Margaret McGreevy, state director of child hygiene, held an all day conference at the Knox county fair, at Bloomfield, also on Wednesday, where 174 children underwent examination. All physicians in the county were present. A child specialist from Omaha, was there as consulting physician, and an orthopedic surgeon from the same city held a clinic for crippled children, at which eight were examined.

Miss McGreevy and the same two specialists were at Madison on Thursday and gave their attention to 100 children.

Miss Edith Whitely, promoting the federal-state work, was at Thedford on Friday, demonstrating to the county teachers' institute on the inspection of pupils. She will conduct a three days' conference on child health at Bridgeport next week. On the 26th she will be at the Maywood district fair, afterward visiting teachers' institutes at Ogallala, Chappell Oshkosh and Harrisburg.

POP CORN FEAST CALLS THOUSANDS

North Loup to Entertain Great Crowds Next Week at Carnival.

(Special to The Star.)

NORTH LOUP, Neb., Sept. 16.—Pop corn days in North Loup are the big event of the year for the people of the great fertile and wealthy Loup valley. What Ak-Sar-Ben is to the Missouri valley and Mardi Gras is to the lower Mississippi, is this carnival of good cheer and good fellowship to this section, which raises and ships more pop corn than any other in the world.

This year more extensive preparations are being made for pop corn days than ever before. The dates are Tuesday and Wednesday, September 19 and 20 and these will also be the time for the local fair and home coming days. Usually about 7,000 people are present in the village on these occasions, but this year larger crowds are expected.

A splendid program of sports has been arranged and everything except the ball games will be gree. For these games a small admission fee is charged. Each year in the neighborhood of 500 bushels of popped corn is given away, this making about 16,000 sacks, for it increases approximately nineteen times in size in the popping. Coffee, cream and sugar are also furnished free and many gallons ofc offee are drunk at each meal.

Owing to the keen interest in political affairs this fall it is expected that many will come to hear the issues discussed by Governor McKelvie and Charles W. Bryan, the latter being the democratic candidate for chief executive of the state. Governor McKelvie will speak Wednesday forenoon, while Mr. Bryan will address the assemblage on the afternoon of the same day.

In one shipping season North Loup sent out approximately 120 carloads of pocorn, while many hundreds of pounds went by local freight and express.

Madison County's Fair Draws Great Crowd of Visitors

MADISON, Neb., Sept. 16.—The Madison county fair, held here this week was the most successful in the history of the county in point of attendance and otherwise. Fair weather Thursday brought 20,000 people to the big show, 3,000 automobiles passing through the gates. Each day, from early morn until the final glare of the fireworks died out the people were delightfully entertained and the memory of this exposition will ever be a pleasing one to the citizens of Madison and surrounding counties.

Two hours before the afternoon program began Thursday the amphitheatre was filled and a thousand were unable to obtain seats. The racing events were good and were highly appreciated by the vast audience. In the ball game Humphrey shut out Newman Grove, the winner making three scores.

In the better baby contest 105 little ones were scored. Dr. Newell Jones, baby specialist, assisted the local physicians in examining the infants and Friday afternoon gave an address on the defects of babies, followed by a free baby clinic.

The finale of the fair was a gorgeous display of fireworks.

CHAPTER LXXI.

With a stifled gasp of pain Adelaide Brown drew back from the bed. Involuntarily she put her hand to her mouth, from which a little trickle of blood came. The delirious woman had struck her full on the lower lip and the heavy wedding ring has broken the skin.

As nurse and husband forced the excited woman back upon her pillows, Richard Hollingshead stepped quickly to Adelaide's side.

"Oh, my dear!" he said so softly that only she heard him. "Let me see how much you are hurt."

"It is nothing," Adelaide declared. Then, as she met Henry Hollingshead's inquiring glance, she repeated her assertion more distinctly.

"It is nothing," she said.

"It is something." Richard insisted.

You would best bathe it at once with hot water," the nurse suggested, glancing at the cut. "Ah, here is the doctor.

The physician was entering the room with the cool unhurried manner that was one of his marked characteristics. But his face changed when he saw Adelaide's blood-stained lips.

The she hurried from the room, Richard Hollingshead following her.

"You must let me come with you!" he urged as she tried to motion him away.

He Pretends Sympathy.

Her lip was throbbing, and she could feel that it was beginning to swell.

"Come right here into dad's bathroom," the young man said.

He turned on the hot water faucet and, wetting the corner of a clean towel, pressed it to her lips.

"I can do all this myself," she demurred.

"It is my right," he insisted. "You poor dear—to think that my mother should have hurt you like this!"

"She did not mean to," Adelaide managed to say. Then, as the blood started again, she submitted to the treatment which her companion was giving her.

Again and again he wet the towel and washed away the crimson stain. At last the bleeding stopped.

"It is all right now," the girl said, with an effort to smile. "Thank you!"

The swollen lip was painful, and Richard saw the lump caused by the blow. He laid his hands on Adelaide's shoulders and, before she could guess his intention, bent and kissed her.

"Miss Brown!"

A voice in the open doorway made the girl start violently. Dr. Carter stood there.

The Second Time.

"I am afraid," he went on as coolly as if he had seen nothing, "that we will have to ask you to help us with the patient. The nurse tells me that you quieted her for a moment, which is more than anybody else has been able to do."

"Yes, and this is what my mother did to her in consequence of her efforts to calm her!" Richard began.

But as if she had not heard him Adelaide hurried down the hall to the room in which the blind woman lay talking wildly. John Carter followed with vouchsafing so much as looking in the direction of the son of the house.

"Twice he has seen him kiss me!" were the words that kept repeating themselves to the girl as she did the physician's bidding. Yet outwardly she was calm.

"Speak to her firmly," John Carter said in a low voice as he and Adelaide reached the excited patient who husband and nurse were trying in vain to restrain.

Mrs. Hollingshead!" Once more Adelaide called the name clearly. "Lie still and listen to what I have to say."

As before, the woman ceased her moans and ejaculations, and listened.

"This is Addie," the clear voice said again.

"Let me put my hand on you." Hannah Hollingshead demanded. Then as she touched the heavy bath-robe, she demanded, "What have you got you coat on for? Are you going out with me now.

"No, this is my wrapper, not my coat," the girl explained. It is too late to go out, and you are not well enough yet. But you shall have any thing you want without going away from your own room."

"Honestly?" came the hoarse whisper.

"Honestly. Only tell me what you want."

"I will tell you — but not the others—for they won't let me have her. They don't know where she is. Do you know?"

"Yes."

"You know where Patty is? Can you find her for me?"

"Yes."

"Then seizing the girl's hands and holding them fast, "go at once and bring her to me! Will you promise to do it—now?"

"Yes—I promise,' Adelaide said solemnly.

"I will wait for you," the sick woman said. "But—if you fool me—I will—kill you! Now go!"

She flung the girl's hands from her and sank back on the pillow, exhausted.

ST. LOUIS, Sept 16.—A three-game series which it is generally believed, will decide whether this year's world series will be another New York City event of a struggle between the east and west was scheduled to begin here today when the Yankees, with a narrow lead of one-half game, meet the Browns in the crucial contest of the season

Late last night, fans began to gather in front of the park, many with folding seats and camp chairs Nearly a thousand fans had taken up seats on the sidewalk before dawn.

Lower Deck Reserved.

The entire lower deck of the grandstand has been reserved for the three games, while only general admissions will be, given to the upper deck, the pavilion and the bleachers. Scalpers, it has been reported, were profiteering on the advance tickets and tickets, which had been sold by the management at $1.25 and $1.50, were being offered for sale by scalpers at $15.

It is expected that 100,000 fans will see the three games.

If the Browns take two games they will have a half-game margin on the Yankees, while the latter would leave the city with a game and one-half lead in the event they take two of the three games.

Shocker On the Mound.

Upon Urban Shocker, spitball pitcher, probably will fall the burden of pitching the first game against the heavy sluggers of New York, while Hubert Pruett, former Missouri university star southpaw, who has the habit of striking out Babe Ruth and other heavy hitters of the Yankees, will work in another game.

As for the pitching assignment for the third game, Fohl had not made any definite plans.

Whether George Sisler, who was injured in last Monday's game, would be in the lineup was a question still undecided just before the game. He is anxious to get into the crucial series, despite the physician's advice to the contrary.

Huggins' Lineup Intact.

Manager Miller Huggins has brought to this city a lineup which has proved its pennant claims in the last two weeks. As to pitching talent, Huggins has Bush, Shawkey, Mays, Jones and Hoyt to send to the hill. In addition, he has some of the leading hitters of the league to face the Browns' pitching staff.

Ruth vs. Williams, last year's home run king and this year's premier four-base slugger, will furnish another feature during the series. While Williams is sharing honors with Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, each having 37, Ruth is trailing the two by a margin of five home runs.

Hook Bailey Hurls Shutout Victory at Red Oak Tourney

(Special to The Star.)

RED OAK, Ia., Sept. 16.—Hook Bailey of Lincoln's Nebraska State league club and Left Daniels, formerly of Omaha's Western leaguers, tangled here yesterday in a game in the Red Oak tournament. Bailey, pitching for Red Oak, copped the verdict from Daniels, hurling for Corning, by a margin of 1 to 0. Each pitcher held the opposition to four hits and both were given errorless support. Bailey struck out ten and Daniel whiffed eight. McCoy of Lincoln and Echtermeyer of Hastings were in the Red Oak line-up.

STATE LEAGUERS AGAIN IN ACTION

Coyotes-Elkhorns Billed to Resume Series Today At Norfolk.

The "little world series" by the Fairbury and Norfolk clubs, involving the championship of the Nebraska State league, is to be resumed this afternoon on the Norfolk diamond, while the Coyotes and Elkhorns will again collide Sunday in the metropolis of Madison county. The count at present stands two and two. The rule adopted by the league requires that the championship series shall continue until one of the teams has won four games. In event of an even split of the two games at Norfolk today and Sunday, the seventh and deciding game will be staged early next week at Fairbury.

President George Segrist of Fairbury and his Coyotes, making the drive to Norfolk, halted in Lincoln Friday afternoon, a few of the players occupyin box seats at the Sioux City-Omaha Western league game. Segrist intimated that Pitcher Lefty Willey, victor in the third game of the series, would start against the Elkhorns Saturday, while Jenney, a right-hander, is slated for service in the Sunday battle.

As Norfolk's two victories were achieved while Didier and Federle, left-handers, were on the firing line, Manager Marr is expected to send his southpaws against the Coyotes in the two-game renewal of the series. The side-wheelers gave Fairbury considerable worry during the pennant campaign, yet the same may be said for the Elkhorns, so the Saturday dope, with Willey pitted against Didier or Federle, points to a tight pitching duel, with the result in doubt all the way to the final out.

Rooney Sold to St. Paul.

Shortstop Johnny Rooney of the Coyotes has been sold to the St. Paul club of the American association, according to announcement made by President Segrist in Lincoln Friday afternoon. The Fairbury short-fielder is to join Mike Kelley's Saints immediately following the conclusion of the State league championship series, which indicates that he is to be given a tryout during the two final weeks of the A. A. campaign. Rooney is a young ball player of considerable promise. He showed steady improvement as the State league season progressed, ranking well up as a fielding shortstop and in batting, base running and scoring runs. Rooney is the fourth ball player on the Fairbury team to earn a promotion to leagues of higher rating. Pitcher Lovich goes to the St. Louis Cardinals, Pitcher Woolfolk to Toledo and Outfielder McDermott to Syracuse. The Fairbury magnate also has offers for Outfielder Bliss.

Football Outlook Good at Fairbury High This Season

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 16.—With ten letter men back in school this year football prospects are unusually bright at Fairbury high. A squad of twenty-five men have just completed a week's encampment at Camp Jefferson, six miles south of town.

Dixie Fans In Two-Mile Line

FORTH WORTH, Tex., Sept. 16. The real fans were assembled in a line two and four deep and two miles long this morning awaiting the opening of the sale of tickets for the Dixie championship series beginning Sunday between Mobile of the Southern association and Forth Worth of the Texas league.

Early yesterday evening a newsie took the first place in the waiting list and sold out at midnight for $40. Dashing to the end of the line, he sold out again later for $10.

PIRATE CLOUTER HORNSBY RIVAL

Tierney Bobs Up to Dispute Cardinal Star's Right to Batting Crown.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, who a few weeks ago appeared to have the batting championship of the National league tucked in his hip pocket, today has cause for worry over the bagging of 1922 honors.

The Pirates' star second baseman has been traveling at such a hot pace with the willow that he is only seventeen points behind the St. Louis favorite and, with the close of the season three weeks away, may become a dangerous contender.

Just a little over a month ago Tierney launched his drive for batting honors, but it was thought this was only a flash in the pan. However, he has been improving his average each week and the latest figures, which include games of last Wednesday, show him hitting .380 compared with .345 four weeks ago. In his last six games Tierney has made eleven hits, which added four points to his mark of a week ago Tierney has bagged 211 hits in 104 games, his drives including twenty-four doubles, thirteen triples and seven homers.

Carey Best Base-stealer.

Max Carey of the Pirates has increased his lead in stolen bases to forty-two and his record of runs scored to one hundred twenty-seven.

Hornsby, however, is leading the regulars with an average of .397, and has increased his home record string to thirty-five, having bagged one four-bagger during the past week.

The Pirates in their race to overtake the Giants are out in front in team batting with an average of .311. The Giants are hitting .308, while the Cardinals are third with .302.

Other leading batters for 100 or more games: Grimes, Chicago, .353; Bigbee, Pittsburgh, .350; Miller, Chicago, .349; Hollocher, Chicago, .345; Daubert, Cincinnati, .343; Harper, Cincinnati, .341; Carey, Pittsburgh, .338; Kelly, New York, .335; Duncan, Cincinnati, .335.

Sisler's Lead Secure.

Tte injury to George Sisler has cast a gloom not only over St. Louis but in thousands of other cities and where the fans have ben pulling for the Browns to win the American league pennant. The Browns were going strong in their race against New York in the sizzling race for the flag, but the unfortunate injury to the St. Louis phenom has thrown a wrench into the working of the team. Sisler, however, declared his lineup, despite the fact that his line-up, despite the fact that his physician said he would have to rest a week or more and probably would be unable to play again this season.

If Sisler is not able to get back in the game, his batting average of .424 appears to be high enough to safely insure his position as the leading hitter for the 1922 season His closest rival, Ty Cobb, is thirty-one points behind, and the chances of his catching up are remote. Cobb's average is .393. Sisler has the edge for stolen base honors with forty-seven, with Kenneth Williams a teammate tagging along with thirty-three.

Ruth on Trail of Rivals.

The race of Babe Ruth to overtake Williams and Tillie Walker of the Athletics for the home run honors is becoming more exciting. Walker smashed out three during the past week and ran his string to thirty-five, while Williams bagged two for a total of thirty-seven and the Babe crashed out a like number for a total of thirty-one.

Other leading batters for 100 or more games: Speaker, Cleveland, .375; Heilman, Detroit, .357; Schang, New York, .337; Tobin, St. Louis .334; Galloway, Philadelphia, .331; Pipp, New York, .331; Bassler, Detroit, .328; Williams, St. Louis, .327; Veach, Detroit, .326; Miller, Philadelphia, .326.

East High Man in Western.

Carl East, the Wichita outfielder, virtually is the whole show in the batting race for the Western league championship. In addition to setting the pace with an average of .383, East has a string of twenty nine home runs and threatens to carry off the honors in hitting homers as well as individual batting.

Manush of Omaha remains in second place in the list of batters with an average of .383, while Bennett of Tulsa is third with .372. Jack Lelivelt, the Tulsa pilot, is fourth with .370. The figures include games of Tuesday.

Lamb and Davis of Tulsa, with thirty-two homers each, are leading the race to date. Hemingway of Sioux City clings to the lead in base stealing with fifty-one, while Elsh, also of Sioux City, is next with forty-five.

KINGS OF TENNIS IN CLASH TODAY

Tilden and Johnston, World's Greatest, Square Off In Final Title Match.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—The principals, William T Tilden of Philadelphia and William Johnston of San Francisco; the occasion, the final round of the tennis championship singles; the time, today; the stake, a world's title in singles.

Just as any stevedore might have predicted months ago, Tilden and Johnston will go into the final round this afternoon sole survivors of a field of 123 players, the same including the champions of Great Britain, Australia, Japan and Spain. There is a verbal rubber stamp, which deals with the fact that class will tell and, in this particular instance, class did.

World's Greatest Players.

Tilden and Johnston are and have been for some years the greatest exponents of lawn tennis this side of the hereafter. The former is the playing-through champion and has held the title the last two years; the latter beat the great McLaughlin out of the championship in 1915, overthrew Tilden himself in 1919 and for eight years has conceded nothing when it came down to a matter of saying it with a strung-gut racquet.

It is the big moment of the courts and tennis fans everywhere are rocking on their heels in anticipation.

Looks Like Even Match.

The principals go into the final round on a more even footing, perhaps, than at any other time. In 1919, Tilden was just coming to the flood time of his ability; in 1920 and in 1921, Johnston was physically inadequate; in the spring of the present year Tilden was beaten twice by his arch-rival in the east versus west matches, but the champion was hardly in his best form at that early date.

Osceola Hi Has Strong Slate of Football Games

(Special to the Star.)

OSCEOLA, Neb., Sept. 16.—Osceola high school has completed its football schedule for the 1922 season. The local team will meet a large number of strong teams from surrounding towns. The schedule follows:

Sept. 22.—Leigh at Leigh.
Sept. 29.—Fullerton at Osceola.
Oct. 6—Columbus at Columbus.
Oct. 13.—Madison at Osceola.
Oct. 20.—David City at Osceola.
Oct. 27.—Albion at Crete.
Nov. 3.—Crete at Crete.
Nov. 10.—Schuyler at Osceola.
Nov. 17.—Clay Center at Clay Center.
Nov. 24.—Seward at Osceloa.

Ban B. Plotting To Curb Home Runs

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Home run records would be made more difficult under an outfield zoning system being prepared by President Ban Johnson, president of the American league.

Only those drives in the centerfield zone would count as home runs under Johnson's plan and the parks with short right field fences would no longer be marks for the sluggers.

Touching the Bases

A Giant pitcher almost lasted through a full game when Carmen Hill went along to the ninth inning with a 7 to 1 lead over the Cubs. Bruin batsmen assaulted Carmen's curves in the ninth with such vigor, however, that John Scott was wig-wagged in from the bull pen. Scott struck out Barber and saved a game for McGraw.

Henline and Hornsby staged a home run duel and the Phillies' catcher won, 3 to 2. Hornsby's two homers were his 36th and 37th of the season. Henline's three marked the first time three homers have been hit in one game by one player in the National league since 1897. The Phillies eventually won, 10 to 9.

A homer by Harris was all the nourishment the Red Sox got from Vangilder and the Browns crept to within a half game of the lead when they took the long end of a 7 to 1 argument.

The ancient cunning of Rude Marquard and the brilliant batting and fielding of Powell were too much for the Pirates, 4 to 1.

Young Ted Blankenship of the White Sox had his lariat ball working and the Texas kid let the Yanks down with four hits.

George Metevier, a rookie, achieved fame in his big league debut by outpitching Walter Johnson and Cleveland beat the Senators, 6 to 5.

Cadore was steady in the pinches and Brooklyn won its final game of the season with Cincinnati.

Harris was a good pitcher for the Tigers, but not much use to the Athletics, and Ty Cobb's charges won.

Dave Danforth, who was sent to the Tulsa club in the Western league by the St. Louis Browns, shut out Oklahoma City, 6 to 0, allowing only three hits. It was his second Western league shutout.

OMAHA SMASHES ORPHANS' STREAK

Mattick Team, After String of Five Wins, Drops Friday Game, 7 to 5.

SUNDAY LAST CHANCE TO SCAN WESTERN LEAGUERS.

Final game of the Sioux City-Omaha series—the wind-up Western league encounter of season in Lincoln—is scheduled for 3 p. m. Sunday at Landis Field. Lincoln fans turned out last Sunday in fine numbers, despite unfavorable weather, and another bumper attendance is forecast for tomorrow.

Lincoln aspires to a Western league franchise for next summer and the surest way to impress the heads of the league that Lincoln is desirable as a member is to jam the park at tomorrow's game. This department of The Star has the hunch that the Sunday fans will do their part; that they will put it over in a big way.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

"Chink" Mattick and his Sioux City Orphans were brought up with a sudden jerk yesterday at Landis Field. After winning five successive games from Des Moines and Omaha, the Orphans were trimmed, 7 to 5, by the baseball gladiators on the payroll of Barney Burch. Be that as it may, the Orphans did not submit tamely to defeat. On the short end of a 7 to 1 count for seven frames, the Mattick aggregation rallied in the eighth and ninth, feeding sour pickles to Barney's boys and all but pulled victory out of the fire.

Pitcher Dan Tipple, a performer for Omaha before Lincoln audiences eight seasons ago, was on the hurling hillock for Barney. Dan has done considerable traveling since first wearing Omaha spangles in 1914, going up to the big show and later toiling in the International and Southern leagues. But time has not appreciably dulled Daniel's pitching effectiveness. He held the Orphans to five hits, struck out seven batters and had much of his old-time stuff. Nevertheless, he was guilty of taking it for granted that a 7 to 1 lead was a cinch —a tactical mistake which all but brought disaster.

Tesar Strong in the Stretch.

Tesar opposed Tipple on the pitching promontory. Starting poorly, the Sioux City flinger was going at top speed during the latter stages of the combat. During the four final frames Tesar shut out the Burch clan and allowed the Omaha sluggers one stingy blow.

Omaha peeled off a two-run advantage in the introductory round. After Gislason had flied to Mattick, Bates singled to center. Grantham groundered toward third and was safe when Ostergard booted the play. Tesar then proceeded to snooze at the switch and when Ostergard tossed the ball toward the center of the diamond, Tesar let the pill roll to the Sioux City bench. Both runners moved up a base and Umpire Anderson followed with a decree that Shandling, reserve catcher, had laid hands on the ball. The arbiter, therefore, awarded each runner an extra base, scoring Bates and sending Grantham to third. "Pug" Griffin was suppressed, Hamilton to Metz, but Manush, who goes up to the Detroit Tigers next spring, walloped to deep center for two bases and Grantham hobbled in with the second run.

Pass Converted Into Run.

Tesar stopped the Burch boys in the second and third, but wobbled in the fourth by passing Manush to first. A wild pitch put the runner on second and, after Wilcox and Masters had been put down, Spencer singled to center, scoring Manush. Spencer hiked to second on the throw to the plate and scored when Tipple singled past third.

Omaha hopped onto Tesar for three additional markers in the fifth. The assault included singles by Bates, Grantham, Manush and Wilcox, three runs floating over the dish—all of them earned.

Tipple's support blew a tire in the fifth and the Orphans rang up their first run, O'Connor going around the circuit on a single, aided by fielding blunders on the part of Gislason and Spencer. And in the eighth, Tipple again was in distress. Hamilton walked, Hemingway fanned and Ostergard drew another pass. Elsh and Metz came through with singles and three Sioux City runners swarmed to the plate.

Tipple Has Tight Squeeze.

Tipple wobbled some more in the ninth and all but blew the ball game Query was safe at first on Bates' muff. Shandling hoisted a fly to Manush in center, Hamilton walked on four wide ones. Heminway's out at first advanced both runners and Query scored when Gislason, after handling Ostergard's bouncer, exuded a wild heave to first. With the tying runs on the bases, Elsh smacked the ball to right field. The drive had the brandmarks of a two-base blow, but the north gale wafted the ball into the mitts of "Pug" Griffin, whose running catch saved the day for the clan of Burch.

The final game of the Sioux City-Omaha series, which will give Lincoln fans their last glimpse of Western league ball this year, is scheduled for Sunday at 3 p. m. at Landis Field. Friday's official figures:

TILDEN-JOHNSTON IN TENNIS FINALS

Big Bill and Little Bill to Clash Today for National Racquet Title.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., 16.—William T. Tilden, of Philadelphia and William M. Johnston of San Francisco will meet today on the courts of the Germantown Cricket club to decide the national lawn tennis championship of the United States for 1922. They reached the final round by defeating decisevely their opponents yesterday in the national tournament. Tilden eliminated Gerald Patterson and Johnston defeated Vincent Richards.

The meeting of "Bib" and Little Bill" today will be their third clash in the championship final of a national tournament. Johnston won the title from Tilden in 1919 and the towering Philadelphian wrested the title from Johnston two years later. A careful study of their records against each other shows an even closer and more interesting angle to their combats on courts. In tournament play they have met ten times and each has won five matches. These contests, reduced to sets, shows that Tilden has won 20 to Johnston's 19.

Additional interest centers upon today's struggle for the winner will take permanent possession of the imposing national championship bowl. placed in play in 1911, each having won two legs on the trophy in past seasons.

Friday Winners Put to Test.

Neither of the finalists had easy matches in the contests of Friday afternoon. Although Johnston won in straight sets from Richards, the latter gave the Californian a terrific battle in the opening set and forced "Little Bill" to play his best tennis to win. "Little Bill" scored more points than Richard's and kept his errors down.

Tilden, too, was forced to lift his tennis to its highest plane to vanquish Patterson, the Australian Davis cup team ace and winner of the Wimbledon tournament in England last June. The antipodean started as if he intended to annihilate Tilden. His winning of the first set was a fine exhibition of tennis. Notwithstanding Patterson's big lead in the opening set, the match analysis shows that Tilden made 15 less errors and four more earned points, outguessed Patterson mentally, outlasted him physically and fully earned his place in the final.

Scores of the semi-final round: Johnston defeated Richards, 8-6, 6-2, 6-1. Tilden defeated Patterson, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

There was only a quiet trade in raw sugar futures. Prices closed at a net decline of 1 to 3 points under scattered liquidation. Closing: October, 3.35c; December, 3.13c; March, 2.99c; May, 3.10c.

With nearly all refiners closing for the day there was little business in refined sugar, and prices were unchanged at 6.25c for fine granulated.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.

Persistent offerings by professional interests caused the bull faction to abandon its initial efforts to force up prices with the result that wave of heaviness spread over the list in today's brief stock market session. Bear traders apparently worked on the theory that certain specialties had been pushed up to too prominent a place to the exclusion of recognized leaders and that these stocks had over-discounted the expected benefits from the improvement in the industrial situation. Several stocks, however, successfully swam against the downward current, New York Airbrake, Postum Cereal and Air Reduction advancing 1 to 3 points to new high records while Pan-American and Mexican Petroleum issues showed gains of 1 to 2½ points. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 425,000 shares.

Conflicting price movements took place in today's early dealings in the stock market. Equipments, public utilities, food and a sprinkling of high grade railroad shares forged to higher ground, while foreign oils, textiles, copper and motor stocks were under pressure. Substantial fractional gains were made by New York Central, Union Pacific and Pere Marquette, but New Orleans, Texas & Mexico, which recently established a new high, slipped back 1¼ points and was followed by Norfolk & Western of a point.

Equipments improved in response to buying orders for General Electric, Baldwin and New York Airbrake, while the advance in public utilities was led by Consolidated Gas and North American, Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt and Houston were inclined to weakness. The selling movements in motors forced Willys-Overland preferred down 1⅝ points and Studebaker ¾. American Woolen and Iron Products also were heavy.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.

Bradstreet today says:

The better feeling visible in trade and industry as a result of the coal strike settlement has been increased by further improvement in the rail traffic situation, while rain and cooler weather in large crop areas have given an impetus to fall buying, which is, however, concededly late. It is probable, too, that the apparent approach of the end of nearly two years and new tariff bill agitation has been beneficial, whatever the immediate result as to duties may be. There is, of course a great deal of irregularity still visible in various lines, but the big salient feature, that American industry is not to be longer starved in the matter of fuel supply, has undoubtedly made for a speeding up of industry which slowed so dangerously in some lines in August. Wholesale and jobbing trade has been better in many cities; retail trade has also measureably improved; industry, particularly in iron and steel and New England cotton manufacturing, has gone ahead with more confidence; demand from strike ridden regions has again begun to manifest life, and collections are a shade better.

Weekly bank clearings $6,378,626,000.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 16.

WHEAT—Wheat lacked leadership at the start today and the market opened unsettled. Some of the traders here have been trying to bull wheat but so far have been given little assistance. While the market at Liverpool closed at an advance, the strength there did not fully reflect the upturn on this side of the Atlantic, the previous day.

On the other hand, the Winnipeg market failed to reflect any uneasiness over the European situation and values there went to a wide discount under Chicago on the crop. Commission house orders, both buying and selling were small during the early dealings and prices held within relatively narrow limits. The opening, which varied from ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with December $1.01⅝@1.01⅞ and May $1.06⅞@1.07, was followed by a slight setback all around.

Although traders here were inclined to the buying side of the market in the belief that the seriousness of the European situation would lead to an upturn, the market reacted toward the finish and closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, with December, $1.01⅝@1.01¾ and May $1.06@1.06⅛.

CORN—Corn and oats followed the trend of wheat. After opening ⅛c lower to ⅛c advance, with December 57¼@57⅜c, the corn market underwent a slight general sag.

Trade in corn was mainly of a local character and the finish was unchanged to ⅛c up, with December 57⅜@½c to 57½c.

OATS—Oats started off to a like advance, with December 35½@35⅝c, and then eased off slightly.

PROVISIONS—Provisions reflected the strength in hog values.

TWO CLAIMS TO YELLOW PAINT

Ensign Company in Cross-Petition Charges Infringement by Yellow Cab.

Charges of infringement by the Yellow Cab company are contained in an answer and cross petition filed in district court here Saturday by the Ensign Omnibus & Transfer company. The same charges against the Ensign company were made in a suit filed several weeks ago.

The Ensign company was established in 1869 and a year later began operating a yellow painted stage coach between Lincoln, Plattsmouth and Nebraska City, and the same year all of the Ensign wagons and buggies were painted yellow, which became linked with the name as its trade mark and by which its equipment was distinguishable from its competitors, it is declared. Yellow has continued in use by the Ensign company and its offices, stables and building were painted yellow in color.

In 1911 the Ensign company commenced operating automobiles painted yellow, while some were painted brown for use at weddings and funerals, and last January the company filed with the secretary of state its formal appropriation of the words "Yellow Cab & Baggage Co.," and has had the exclusive right to use the name, the company declares.

Several months ago the Yellow Cab company began a direct competition with the Ensign company, which constitutes an infringment, it is alleged. The Ensign company asks that the profits of the Yellow Cab company be determined from the use of its taxis as well as the damages sustained by the Ensign company by the use of the name and color adopted by the Yellow Cab company. A court order for the destruction of all vehicles in imitation of the Ensign's equipment and a permanent injunction from using the name Yellow Cab company, or any similar name and from using yellow paint on its vehicles is also demanded by the Ensign company.

Local Shopcrafts Say No Change in Strike Situation

Local Burlington striking shopmen are "not worrying" over the announced settlement of that road with its new employes' organization, according to union spokesmen, and the announcement is said to have made absolutely no change in the situation as far as the strike is concerned. Both the Lincoln and Havelock organizations are continuing their daily mass meetings, and report their ranks unbroken. One local leader admitted that the road officials' move in publicly announcing an agreement with the new organization might possibly be of some good as propoganda, but would have noe actual results. "It places the rail labor board in the peculiar position of having to deal with two employes' groups," he said. All local strike leaders express the strongest possible prediction that the difficulty will be setled in their favor, at a not too distant date.

Palin Arrives at Prison to Begin Fifty Year Term

Benjamin Franklin Palin, convicted of second degree murder at Broken Bow, Neb., for the murder of his brother-in-law, John Wilson, two months ago, over a dispute concerning a plot of ground, was brought to Lincoln Saturday morning by Sheriff Victor Talbot of Custer county, to begin a fifty year sentence.

Palin is fifty-five years old. He is not married.

Mass Meeting on Whittier Protest at the Auditorium

An open mass meeting in which the patrons of all districts in the city are asked to meet with the Whittier community people, to protest the manner in which the board of education has redistricted the city will be held at the city auditorium Monday evening.

City Briefs

Draws Small Fine.—J. W. Nelson, colored, who gives his address as 930 North Tenth street, pleaded guilty in Justice Stevens' court to a charge of receiving stolen property. He was fined $1 and costs. T. J. Smith, special agent for the Burlington, had previously filed a complaint charging Nelson with stealing six grain doors valued at $30. This complaint was changed.

Peace Warrant.—A peace warrant filed in Justice W. T. Stevens' court Friday afternoon charges Wm. Lawson, who officers say comes from Kancas, with threatening Mrs. Esther Childers, who is employed in an O street restaurant between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. It is said that Lawson followed Mrs. Childers to Lincoln from Kansas. The warrant prohibits Lawson intimidating the plaintiff.

BALKAN OUTLOOK IS VERY GLOOMY

the cannonading was the work of the Kemalists coast batteries which were attacking the remainder of the Greek forces evacuating the Chesme peninsula.

The British authorities appealed to the Turkish officers to cease firing as the retiring troops were no longer combatants but helpless refugees, and the Turkish action they declared was in violation of the dictates of the humanity and international law.

The Kamalists however, ignored the British pleas for mercy and the Greek vessels retired under heavy fire, with many wounded.

Consulate Desetroyed.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Official dispatches received from Smyrna today state that all the foreign consulates were destroyed by the fire with the exception of those of Spain, Belgium and Norway.

Suffer Heavy Loss.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The commercial loss in Smyrna as a result of the great fire is enormous, all reports agree, and falls to a great extent upon foreigners.

Apparently the whole trading quarters was cosumed with its immense store of goods.

Members of British firms engaged in the Levantine trade say the result will be calamitous to them, while numbers of prosperous Greek and Armenian traders face ruin.

The loss of the dried fruit crop will be a heavy blow. The season's export trade had just begun. The crop was above the average and nearly 100,000 tons were awaiting exportation. All of this was burned, if accounts are accurate.

MANY DRAW FINES AND JAIL TERMS

colored, of Lincoln, who officers say tried to pour the liquor in her possession into a bath tub when she discovered that they were after her; Earl J. Milton of Lincoln, who has been in the county jail since August 11 serving a sentence imposed upon him by the state court for having intoxicating liquor in his possession; Bryan Van Winkle who had been fined previously by the state court $200 and costs and his car confiscated and sold.

Henry E. Hayes, 60, a farmer living near Ceresco, pleaded guilty to four counts of possessing and selling liquor two different times. Hayes stated to the court that he had sold an interest in a house and lot in order to pay the $100 fine assessed against him by the district court at Wahoo. He told the judge that he was dependent upon his children for support. Judge Munger sentenced Hayes to 30 days in jail and fined him $100 and costs.

Striker Draws Fine.

Peter Kreiger, a railroad striker of Lincoln, was fined $100 and costs for possessing intoxicating liquor and was sentenced to 30 days in jail for manufacturing the same. He entered a plea of guilty to both charges.

Otis D. Wilcox, 29, of Wymore, pleaded guilty to the two counts of possessing and making intoxicating liquor. On the first count Wilcox was fined $100 and costs, and on the second charge he was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. He had been fined $100 and cost in the state courts.

Lyman Cromwell, a farmer living near Waverly, who said that he intended the liquor which he manufactured for his own use, entered a plea of guilty to four counts of making, selling and transporting liquor. Cromwell was sentenced to 60 days in jail and was fined $100. A fine of $50 was levied against J. Wintersteen of Lincoln, who pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of liquor.

Two strikers living in Havelock and who had been doing picket duty at the shops, Jacob Frosheiser and Henry Ihel, first entered a plea of not guilty, but changed it to guilty to charge of possessing liquor and were each fined $25 and costs.

Wm. E. Otto of Falls City, and Abe A. Liberty of Rulo, were arrested by Marshall J. C. McClung yesterday on charges of possessing liquor. Sentence was deferred on Otto who pleaded guilty and bond for Liberty, who pleaded not guilty, was fixed at $1000.

Deny Conspiracy.

Erick N. Balderson and Oscar Smith pleaded not guilty to a conspiracy charge. Ethel Brown, colored, of Lincoln, pleaded not guilty to a charge of possessing liquor.

Pleas of not guilty were made by the following: Malvin G. Hubbard charged with possessing liquor; John Ingram of Talmage, on three counts of possessing and manufacturing liquor; G. M. Pollard of Falls City; Geo. A. Bobbitt of Tobias, for possessing liquor; Geo. Ankeny of Tobias, changed a former plea of guilty to not guilty of possessing liquor.

Wm. H. Wallace failed to appear in court and the judge ordered his bond forfeited. Judge Munger deferred sentence on John Snyder of Plymouth a young farmer, who has cost his father $2,200 his arrest on charges of possessing and selling liquor, it is said.

John D. Rundt of Burr, pleaded not guilty to charges of possessing and transporting liquor, while his companion, Ralph J. Wittstruck of Panama, pleaded guilty to transporting liquor but not to possessing it.

Children born on this date very early show decided likes and dislikes with a dominant will power, quick discrimination and understanding, and very early in life show a talent for a business career. They should be continually instructed to look for good in other people, and for the pure and beautiful in everything.

Men and women of this date are the blessed of the gods, for they have been given what you might truly call eternal youth. They seldom age, and men and women between the ages of 30 and 60 change little or none at all.

The governing planet of this birthdate is Mercury, and the sign is Virgo. The birthstone is a pink jasper.

SMYRNA MASSACRE BUT SINGLE PHASE OF DEEP INTRIGUE

Result of English and French Desires For Control of Near East.

Greece and Turkey Mere Pawns In Hands of Allied Diplomats.

(Associated Press.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—Upwards of 2,000 persons perished in the great fire at Smyrna; 2,500 buildings were destroyed and all the American property wiped out. The catastrophe is of much greater proportions than the conflagration at Saloniki in 1917, which caused $100,000,000 damage and left 200,00 homeless.

A heavy rain continued to fall after the fire, making the plight of the inhabitants and refugees pitiable.

The city is without adequate food and water, and the deplorable lack of sanitary conditions is giving rise to pestilence.

British Fleet Mobolizes.

(International News Service.)

RIGA, Sept. 16.—Soviet Russia is prepared to aid the Turkish nationalists, to take Constantinople from the allies, according to reports received here today. Two divisions of Russian troops are said to be in Batouim in the Caucasees.

General Cameneff, commander of the red army, has left Batouim for an unrevealed destination.

Await Reply to Note.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. — Ssate department officiols today were anxiously awaiting a reply from Constantinople to the American proposal that this government cooperate with the allies for the relief of refugees in Asia Minor. Additional dispatches bearing upon the whole Smyrna situation are expected monemtarily. Any plan submitted by Admiral Bristol, American high commissioner, it was emphasized must be limited strictly to relief work. The United States will take no part in the political situation which threatens to involve practically all the other great powers.

The department made no statement as to responsibility for the burning of Smyrna and could not confirm reports of widespread massacre and pillage. Chief responsibility for relieving the situation, officials here declared, rests with the allies. They have been taking an active part in events leading up to the capture of Smyrnia, from which this goverenment has consistently stood aloof.

Phases of Secret Intrigues.

The developments in Asia Minor in the opinion of officials here, are only a phase of the secret intrigues which have been going on in Europe virtually since the close of the world war. Involved in these are such far-reaching questions as German reparations, dominant French or British influence in the Near East and control of the Dardanelles.

The consistent support of Turkey by France and of Greece by Great Britain results, it is believed here, from the long-standing controversy between the French and British over the question of German reparations. To what lengths London and Paris are prepared to go, remains to be seen.

The gesture of the Greeks toward Constantinople which precipitated the present crisis is believed to have been with at least the tacit consent of Great Britain.

The decision of Premier Poincare to withdraw French troops to the European side of the straits is interpreted as meaning France would not oppose an advance by the Turks upon Constantinople.

Great Britain herself, there is reason to believe, would not oppose occupation of Constantinople by the Turks provided Galipoli and the Dardanelles remained under allied control. Nor would the otheer allies.

This plan would doubtless prove satisfactory to soviet Russia, temporarily, at least, as the bolshevists would prefer their weak Turkish allies in the former Turkish capital to the British. Rumania, too, would prefer to have the Turks between her and Russia, provided a suitable entente were made.

Will Make Struggle.

However, Great Britain's policy toward Constantinople may work out it being certain she will not surrender her hold on Gallipoli and the Dardanelles without a bitter struggle. From some points of view, control of those narrow straits was the greatest benefit Great Britain derived from the world war and her eagerness to beat Russia to the prize was shown by her haste in despatching the ill-fated Gallipoli expedition.

Their control means not only a check upon Russia, but also a guarantee of the route to India and a barrier against any future revival of such a movement as that attempted by the Germans toward Bagdad. Great Britain has no great land force immediately available against the Turks who are known to have some 80,000 men in the field, with approximately 800,000 world war veterans scattered through Asia Minor, who need only equipment to make them first class fighting men. Apparently, reliable information here indicates that to date the Turks have had no great difficulty in securing French supplies and equipment.

Also, there is soviet Russia, which already has sent a note of protest against allied attempts to thwart the Turks in their "legitimate aims."

Claim New Rail Rate Would Discriminate

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Representatives of railroads opposing proposed transcontinental joint rail and water rates by the Southern Pacific railroad were heard today in the interstate commerce commission hearing of the Southern Pacific's petition.

The Santa Fe, the Chicago & Northwestern and several other roads are opposing the Southern Pacific's proposal on the ground the coast-to-coast rates would equalize the present Chicago-Pacific coastal rail rates and would discriminate against middle western shippers.

'DIE HARDS' WILL REMAIN OUTSIDE

Burlington Signs Agreement With Men Now Working In Shops.

Other Lines Are Expected to Follow Action Taken By the "Q."

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 16—Although several rail systems have already signed separate agreements with the railroad shop unions, it was apparent today that a number of the "die hard" roads would remain outside the peace fold. They will "carry on" with the new unions formed in their shops since the strike of July 1 was called and will not negotiate with the striking shopmen.

The Chicago, Burlingotn & Quincy railroad is the first of these railroads definitely to announce its attitude against all negotiations. Hale Holden, president of the road, said that a mutual agreement had been already reached with the Burlington shop employes now at work and that a new schedule of rates of pay and working rules had been adopted.

"The agreement with our new employes has been signed," President Holde nsaid. "Any consideration by the Burlington of the so-called Willard plan with the outside unions is thus finally disposed of by the recognition of and contract with direct representatives of the present shop craft employes of the road."

The agreement was reached after a conference between duly elected representatives of the employes and the management. Graduated rates for differing skill and territorial differentials, involviung some increases over former rates of pay were agreed to. Rules and working condition were also revised. The new employes organization was entirely satisfied with the agreement, it was stated.

This action by the Burlington is expected to be followed by similar action on the part of other "die hard" roads such as the Pennsylvania, the Santa Fe the Union Pacific and the other systems.

In the meantime the roads included in the separate agreement plan continued today to confer with their various unions. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago Northwestern and the Baltimore & Ohio already have adjusted all differences with the striking shopmen and today with thousands of men back at work, preparations were being made to open the shops Monday with full shifts of men.

On both the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Northwestern some trouble was reported in getting all of the striking shopmen to return. Various groups were uttering protests against the separate agreement plan and were voting to remain on strike until an agreement should be reached taking back all the members of the shop crafts unions.

CHARGES MINERS EVICTED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Charges of union officials that 5,000 miners' families had been evicted by operators in the Connellsville, Pa., coal fields were aired in the senate this afternoon by Senator Watson, democrat of Georgia. Watson declared the situation in the Pennsylvania field was a disgrace to the country. His statement drew a hot reply from Senator Reed, republican of Pennsylvania.

HIGH TRIBUTE TO NOTED 'Y' WORKER

"Work Will Live Forever" Says Colleague at Weidensall Funeral.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 16.—In the Y. M. C. A., an organization which he assisted in founding more than a half century ago, Robert Weidensall's funeral was held Friday afternoon. Mr. Weidensall died Tuesday afternoon at the home of his grand nephew, Will Weidensall, near Yutan, Neb., at the age of 86.

A tribute to Mr. Weidensall, the man who "had encircled the globe" with the Young Men's Chirstian association, was paid by his colleague for the past fifty-three years, Richard C Morse, consulting general secretary of the international committee of the organization.

"The guiding star of this man who is now sleeping his last sleep before you, was to direct the young men of the world through faith and trust to Jesus Christ," declared Mr. Morse. "We have met to mourn his loss, but at the same time we rejoice in the great work he has done for the civilized world—a work that will live forever. No one can put an estimate on the assistance he has rendered all mankind."

Dr. F. H. Burt, of the Young Men's Christian association training school of Chicago, Ill., and a personal friend of Mr. Weidensall, also spoke.

"Man can make no greater record than to live through the long years a life so Christ-like as the one Mr. Weidensall lived," Mr. Burt stated. "I know there is a great grief in the homes of his relatives, but the world is richer for his life. He left a heritage upon which no price can be placed.

Nebraska Woman Witnesses Turkish Outrages in Smyrna

OMAHA, Sept. 16.—Miss Minnie B. Mills of Omaha, presumably in the thick of Turkish outrages in Smyrna, when the American collegiate institute for girls of which she is head was attacked and the girl pupils carried off by soldiers, is safe, according to a cablegram received Friday by her mother, Mrs. E. L. Mills, 2145 South Thirty-third street.

The message, dated at Athens, Greece, reads:

"Minnie is well."

A dispatch to the London Times quoted Miss Mills as saying that a Turkish sergeant started the fire which swept a great portion of the city.

Many women and babies among the 1,500 persons gathered for protection at Miss Mills' school were killed according to dispatches.

Miss Mills, who has been a teacher in Smyrna for twenty-five years, visited her mother and brother, the Rev. Herbert L. Mills, in Omaha, in April of 1920.

Knox County Fair Draws Big Crowd

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Sept. 16.—The third day of the Knox county fair drew a record-breaking crowd. The ball game between Winnetoon and Nibrara was won by the latter, the score being 7 to 1. Brosco was in the box for Winnetoon and allowed but three hits, striking out nine. Nine errors on the part of his teammates were responsible for seven tallies. Kopal of Tabor, S. D., hurled for Nibrara and was touched up for six safeties. He whiffed ten and his teammates erred but twice. Neither team registered up to the fifth frame.

Three big days and not an accident of any kind shows quite a remarkable record, speaking well for the way the association through its special police officers handled the crowds.

The exhibits in all the various departments were fine and visitors from twelve different states united in saying that the Knox county fair was the best small town fair they have visited this season.

At 3 o'clock the state officers were slated to meet the county committee at republican headquarters in the Wead block. Probably a dozen women appeared including officers and not half this number of men.

"We have the democrats on the defensive," said Chairman Perry to a reporter. "They haven't made any definite proposition with respect to a change in the buget system."

"I am pretty certain that Medill McCormick will devote a week to campaigning in Nebraska," said the state chairman, 'and we may have two speeches by Ex-Senator Beveridge, one at Lincoln and one at Omaha.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Congress yesterday passed the soldier bonus bill along to President Harding. Prompt action by the executive was anticipated, but opinion at the capitol as to whether he would veto or approve the measure still was divided. The question entered largely into the debate which preceded senate adoption of the conference report 36 to 17.

Conceding that while the question of the president's attitude was as Senator Harrison, democrat, Missouri expressed it; "up in the air," Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bill said he "hoped to God" the president would sign it.

"I think he ought to sign it," he declared, adding that if senators who wanted to "help the soldiers" would remain in Washington until "a final vote" there would be sufficient votes to pass it over a veto.

Some house leaders were of the opinion that if the president decided to veto the measure it would be returned to congress early in the coming week. In that event, it was the plan to bring up speedily in the house the question of overriding the veto. Proponents of the legislation were confident that the necessary two-thirds majority could be obtained, the house having passed the bill by a majority of more than four to one.

Admittedly, however, there was doubt as to the situation in the senate. Opponents claimed thirty-four senators in opposition, two more than necessary to sustain the bill.

As it goes to the president, the bonus bill would provide four options:

Adjusted service pay if the veteran's adjusted service credit at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 for foreign service did not exceed $50.

Adjusted service certificates having a face value equal to 3.015 times the amount of the adjusted service credit and payable at the end of twenty years or sooner at the death of the veterans.

Vocational training and aid at the rate of $1.75 a day after January 1, 1923, with the total payment limited to 140 per cent of the adjusted service credit.

Home and farm aid in an amount equal to the adjusted service credit increased by 25 per cent.

The estimated cost of the bonus is approximately $4,000,000,000, which would be made a direct charge against the federal treasury.

VIEWS CLASH ON MARRIAGE CANON

Many Episcopal Deputies Opposed to Any Change In Church Statutes.

PORTLAND, Sept. 16.—Sentiment in the house of deputies of general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in regard to the change in the divorce canon enacted Thursday by the house of bishops showed that there is no unanimity of opinion for concurrence in the administration of the bishops, according to expressions of delegates today.

The divorce amendment provides in effect that no member of the church shall marry a divorced person, exception being made in cases where a divorce has been granted on grounds of infidelity.

Prominent members of the New York delegation expressed opposition to any change in the present divorce law.

Steven S. Baker, prominent lay member of the New York delegation said he was opposed to any changes in the canon, and the same view was expressed by the Rev. Charles L. Slattery, Rev. D. H. P Nichols, Edmund L. Baylies, a law delegate and others.

Rev. E. M. Stries of New York was emphatic in opposing the change. He said:

"While I believe in the most rigid adherence of the church toward the ideal, I am strongly opposed to any disciplinary action of the church against those who conscientiously feel that it is right for them to re-marry under conditions in which the church cannot and should not officiate."

George Zabriskie, chancellor of the diocese of New York, said the proposed amendment would make the canon inconsistent.

Rev. Dr. F. S. White, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Rev. Dr. L. Coley, of Philadelphia opposed the change. Rev Dr. John W. Hopkins of Chicago favoring the change, said he was in favor of increasing the strictness of the marriage laws, declaring there was altogether too much laxity.

FOUR MEN SUFFOCATED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16—Frank Gilbert, chief inspector of the United States kuarantine service here, and three unidentified men, were this afternoon suffocated in the hold of the Japanese liner Shinyo Maru at pier No. 36, when the inspector was directing the work of fumigating the ship
